

1,900 New Students Swell Campus Enrollment

Plattsburgh State's classrooms and residence halls will be full this fall, despite a growing decline in the number of graduating high school seniors around the state. Richard Higgins, director of admissions, said this week that the college closed admissions to all programs in mid-August, with deposits on hand from 1,901 new students, against a targeted goal of 1,865. This is the first time in several years that admissions have been closed.

By August 15, the college had received 8,453 applications, 13.6% more than last year, he said. That increase was the largest reported among the SUNY Arts and Science Colleges. About 60% of the applicants were offered admission. Quality indicators remain good, according to Higgins, with freshmen having an average high school average of 84 and an average SAT score of 950.

'We're very pleased with this year's student recruitment process,' Higgins said. He attributed the recruitment success to several factors, including additional sophistication in recruitment procedures, the development of several popular new academic programs, and the fact that recruitment is rapidly becoming a campus-wide effort.

In addition, Higgins said that the college is apparently very attractive to students who are undecided about their major course of study. "The combination of our general education program and our large variety of majors gives undeclared students a lot of options," he said. Undeclared students are now the largest single group in the incoming freshman class.

Student retention figures, he said, are not definite yet, but based on such key activities as bill payment and dormitory reservations, Higgins said he believes that the persistence rate will remain high.

Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice president for student affairs, was also pleased with the dormitory occupancy rate. According to figures provided by Cathy Moulton, housing administrator, the residence halls are currently over capacity, with 25 triples. While the number of students reserving rooms in the dorms is up only about 60 from last fall, Roark said that last spring, housing staff had anticipated that as many as 200 beds might be vacant. "In light of the move to self-sufficiency for the residence halls," Roark said, "we anticipate that our high occupancy rate will allow us to not only meet our expenditures, but also pay for some planned improvements," Roark added that the third floor of Adirondack Hall has been designated a freshman floor on a trial basis.

Presidential Search Underway; Committee Being Formed

The search for a new president of SUNY Plattsburgh has begun, according to Robert M. Garrow, chairman of the College Council. Garrow said the Council met with SUNY Chancellor Clifton R. Wharton Jr. and Dr. Thomas Peterson, deputy to the Chancellor, on July 15 to review the process and procedures to be used during the search. The Council met again with Peterson, who will serve as a liaison between the Chancellor and the Council, on August 7 to begin the actual search process.

Garrow said the search committee is now being assembled and should be completed by the end of this week. Committee membership will include two members of the College Council (plus Garrow, who will chair the committee and serve as an ex officio member), six faculty members and one professional staff member selected by the chair of the Faculty Senate, three students selected by the Student Association executive committee, one alumnus selected by the president of the Alumni Association, and one dean, one member of the classified staff, and one member of the executive staff, all selected by members of those three groups. In addition, the president of the Student Association will serve as an ex officio member. The College Council has final approval over the search committee membership.

Garrow said that an advertisement for the position has been composed and will shortly appear in "The New York Times" and the "Chronicle of Higher Education." The committee will begin reviewing applications and nominations on or about November 1. During a search for a president, Garrow added, it is the usual procedure for the SUNY Trustees to appoint an acting president from outside the college community. He expects that Chancellor Wharton will recommend someone to the post at the Trustees' meeting on September 10.

1981 Graduate Receives Psychology Association Award

Patricia Devine, a 1981 summa cum laude graduate, has won the Dissertation Award given by the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues, a division of the American Psychological Association, for the best doctoral dissertation in the field of psychology. Devine recently received her doctorate from Ohio State University. She is also one of three finalists for the Society for Experimental Social Psychology's dissertation awards.

During her years at Plattsburgh State, Devine, a psychology major, assisted Dr. Roy Malpass, professor of behavioral science, in his research on eyewitness identification. She co-authored, with Malpass, six publications on that research, and made several presentations at various conferences. She continues her collaboration with Malpass and they are currently preparing a chapter on "Enhancing Eyewitness Memory" for a volume on psychology and law.

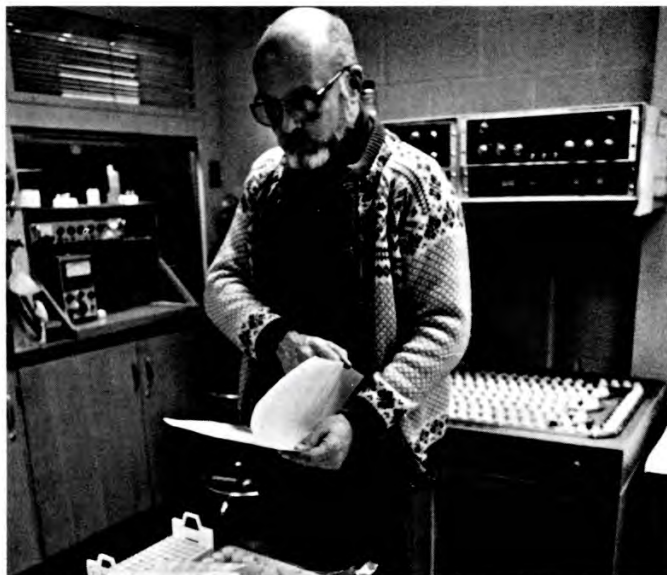

Council Okays Naming Hawkins Auditorium for E. Glenn Giltz

The Plattsburgh College Council has passed a resolution to name the large auditorium in Hawkins Hall the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium and a formal dedication ceremony will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, September 14 in the lobby. Giltz, president and chairman of the Board of Directors of Northern Insuring Agency, Inc., was president of the Plattsburgh College Foundation from 1976 until his death in December, 1985. He had been affiliated with the Foundation from its founding in the late 1960's. He chaired virtually every one of its committees and served one term as its vice president. Under his direction the Foundation tripled its endowment and annual giving income, launched successful planned giving and endowment programs and substantially increased earnings on investments. Additionally, the student aid program grew tremendously, from $76,000 awarded in 1976 to approximately $300,000 awarded for 1986-87. Giltz received the college's Distinguished Service Award in 1975.

Devine was president of the Plattsburgh chapter of Psi Chi, the psychology honor society and also served as a teaching assistant. In addition, she is the only student to date who has won the Redcay Award for Excellence in the Behavioral Sciences twice.

McMillan Publishes Moore Book on Reducing Blood Pressure

Dr. Richard Moore, professor of biophysics at Plattsburgh State, and Dr. George D. Webb, associate professor at the UVM School of Medicine, have co-authored a book entitled The K Factor: Reversing and Preventing High Blood Pressure Without Drugs, which has been published by MacMillan Publishing Company. "High blood pressure," says Moore, "can be controlled, even reversed, by a diet that features food with a healthful K factor," which, he goes on to explain, is the ratio of potassium to sodium. In the book, Moore and Webb discuss the research upon which their conclusions are based. They also outline a program of nutrition, weight control and exercise.

Moore has been a member of the Plattsburgh State faculty since 1967. His long-term and extensive research into the function of the sodium pump in human cells has been funded by the National Institute of Health and the American Heart Association.

Testimonial Planned for President and Mrs. Burke

A college and community testimonial dinner to honor Dr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Burke for their years of service to SUNY Plattsburgh will be held at 7:30 pm on Saturday, September 13 in the Angell College Center Ballroom. A reception in the Blue Room will precede the dinner. As a tribute to the Burkes, an endowment fund in their name will be created with the Plattsburgh College Foundation. Thanks to the generosity of the Marriott Corporation, part of the cost of each ticket will be contributed to the fund. Tickets for the dinner are available at $15 each in the Office of College Relations and Development, Kehoe 803. Persons who cannot attend the dinner, but who would like to make a contribution to the endowment fund may do so with a check made payable to the Plattsburgh College Foundation, with a notation that it is for the Burke Endowment Fund.

New Format; New Editor

Readers will notice a change in "Weekly" as of this issue. Summer readers have already seen our new format — two columns, larger type, more variety in size of photographs, etc. Now we are separating "This Week on Campus" from the rest of the issue, so that readers may easily tack the calendar on their bulletin boards. Let us know what you think of the new format!

"Weekly" also has a new editor — Dennis Doyle, director of communications in the Office of College Relations and Development. Items for "Weekly" may be submitted to Doyle (Kehoe 810) until noon on the Monday prior to publication.

12 Granted Sabbatic Leaves

Several faculty members will be on sabbatical leaves during the fall semester. They are: Dr. Arthur Cardany, professor in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services; Dr. Ruth Kline, assistant professor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre; Dr. Donald Bogucki, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science; Dr. Leonard Fontana, associate professor of sociology; Richard Mikkelsen, professor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre; and Dr. Henry Morlock, professor of psychology.

On leave for the entire academic year are: Dr. Phil DeVita, associate professor of anthropology; Dr. Raymond Doyle, professor of foreign languages and literature; Dr. Yenoin Guibbory, associate professor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre; Kathryn Stuart, associate professor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre; Cynthia Taylor, associate professor of nursing; and Dr. Robert Withington, associate professor in the School of Business and Economics.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Link. The engravings, entitled "The Glory of Life," were Wards' last works, finished in 1977. They will be formally presented to the Plattsburgh College Foundation during the opening reception of an exhibition of these engravings and 40 others by Ward. The exhibition, which will run through October 3, will officially open on Sunday, September 7 in the Kent Gallery, with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m.

Ward painted murals and illustrated more than 100 books for adults and children, but is perhaps best known for his "novels without words," in which he created lengthy series of wood engravings. He won numerous awards for his works, including the Library of Congress Award for Wood Engravings and the Samuel F.B. Morse Gold Medal.

Senior Business Major Volz Receives McFadden Scholarship

Kevin Volz, a senior business management major and a member of Sigma Tau Phi chapter of Alpha Chi Rho, has been named the first winner of the James L. McFadden Scholarship Award from the Alpha Chi Rho Educational Foundation, Inc. The award is given in memory of James McFadden, a member of the Alpha Chi Rho chapter at Columbia University. McFadden, who died in 1976, created the $2,000 scholarship in his will. The recipient is chosen on the basis of academic achievement, fraternity activity, college activity, community activity, and leadership.

Volz has served as president, public relations officer, house manager, and rush chairman of the campus Alpha Chi Rho chapter. He is a charter member of Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society. He is a dean's list student.

Trustees Appoint Vice Chancellor Acting President

On recommendation of State University Chancellor Clifton R. Wharton Jr., the SUNY Trustees today appointed Dr. Sherry Hood Penney to serve as acting president of Plattsburgh State for the duration of the search for a permanent president of the college. Penney, who currently serves as vice chancellor for academic programs, policy and planning in Central Administration, is expected to assume the post here on or about October 1.

"We are grateful to Chancellor Wharton and the Trustees for appointing someone so highly qualified as Dr. Penney," said Dr. Jerome Supple, vice president for academic affairs, who has served as acting president of the college since last October when former President Joseph C. Burke accepted the role as acting SUNY provost, a position he has since assumed permanently. "Sherry Penney has the educational background and administrative and interpersonal skills required to manage this college through a period of transition in leadership," he added. "I am confident our campus community will welcome Dr. Penney and give her full cooperation and support during her term as Plattsburgh's acting president."

Prior to joining SUNY, Penney served as associate provost at Yale University (1976-82) and as associate in higher education with the New York State Education Department (1973-76), where she was responsible for program evaluation of public and private colleges in this state. She has taught at Union College and at Yale.

Recognized as an expert on evaluative and academic review processes in higher education, Penney has served as a consultant to national and regional educational organizations. She has been a member of accreditation teams for the Middle States, Western, and Southern Associations of Schools and Colleges, U.S. Department of Education, and she has served as a reviewer for the Council on Postsecondary Accreditation. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems and of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education, New England Association of Schools and Colleges. Dr. Penney is a consulting editor of Change magazine, which in 1978 cited her as one of the "Hundred Leaders of the Academy," and a former trustee of the Berkeley Divinity School. A widely sought speaker on higher education topics, she has published numerous articles and reviews in professional journals and is the author of Patrician in Politics: Daniel Dewey Barnard of New York.

$132,000 Grant Supports Stoller-Pugliese Research Project

Stoller

Pugliese

Drs. Eleanor Stoller and Karen Pugliese, professor and assistant professor of sociology, respectively, have been awarded $132,295 from the National Institute on Aging, a division of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Under the grant, Stoller and Pugliese will investigate the informal helping networks of older persons living in nonmetropolitan environments. A major focus of their work will be the effects on adults of caring for their elderly parents. They will also examine the ways older people reciprocate for the help they receive from family, friends and neighbors. The current project is a continuation of Stoller's earlier extensive research on strategies used by nonmetropolitan elderly in coping with the effects of declining health.

Stoller joined the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty in 1973. Her earlier research was also supported by the NIA and has been published in a number of journals. Pugliese joined the faculty in 1984 after completing her graduate study at Washington State University.

10 Promoted; Braga, Burde, Williams to Full Professor

Ten members of the faculty have been promoted in rank effective with the beginning of the current academic year. Promoted from associate to full professor are: Dr. Thomas Braga (foreign language & literature); Dr. Edgar Burde (English); and Roger Williams (Center for Art, Music & Theatre). Promoted from assistant to associate professor are: Dr. Helen Deresky (School of Business and Economics); Dr. J. Justin Gustainis (communication); Dr. Alexis Levitin (English); Dr. Charles List (philosophy); Dr. Rachel Pollow (nursing); Dr. Stephen Steinlight (English); and Dr. William Teter (computer science). In addition to the above, Susan Collins will be promoted from assistant to senior assistant librarian, effective November 19.

Braga

Williams

Braga received the Ph.D. in French from Rice University in 1970. He taught for two years at California State College in San Bernardino before joining Plattsburgh State in 1972. At Plattsburgh, Braga teaches courses in elementary Spanish and in elementary and intermediate French and Portuguese, among others. His articles and poems have been published in numerous scholarly journals in this country and abroad, and he has delivered papers on a variety of topics at meetings and conventions held throughout the United States.

Burde, who received the doctoral degree from the Claremont Graduate School in California in 1969, joined the faculty here the following year as an assistant professor. He was promoted to associate professor in 1974. Burde is the author of significant works on Mark Twain and Henry James. An essay on James he wrote recently has appeared in a publication on American literature produced in India. Burde has

A native of Michigan, Penney earned the B.A. degree with highest honors from Albion College and the M.A. from the University of Michigan. She holds the Ph.D. in American History from SUNY.

The appointment of Penney is consistent with Trustees' policy to select acting presidents of University campuses from outside those institutions. The search process is expected to culminate with the appointment of a successor to former President Burke at some point in the spring semester of the current academic year.

fostered the growth of the popular "Tuesday Reflections" series on campus. He developed and recently introduced a course in Russian literature that focuses largely on Tolstoy and Dostoevsky.

Williams holds degrees from the University of Nebraska and Alfred University, and he has studied also at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. He has taught studio photography at Plattsburgh since joining its faculty in 1975. He has given many presentations and workshops throughout the northeast, and his work has been exhibited in 30 states and several foreign countries in more than 30 one-person and 70 group exhibitions. Williams, who also teaches the history of photography here, has brought many noted contemporary photographers to campus to lecture and conduct workshops. Two national Endowment for the Arts grants have supported this activity. Additionally, a SUNY grant-in-aid has supported his research on "Platinum and Palladium Printing."

Eyewitness Identification Expert Davis to Lecture Here

Dr. Graham Davies of the department of psychology, University of Aberdeen, Scotland, will discuss his research in the area of eyewitness memory, especially eyewitness identification, at 3 p.m. on Friday in Room 101 of Hudson Hall. He is the author of many books and articles in this area of research, and is the Editor of the journal Applied Cognitive Psychology.

Dr. Davies is well known in the United Kingdom for his work on practical aspects of facial identification for law enforcement personnel. He is particularly knowledgeable about the difficulties and uses of the Identikit, Photofit and sketch artist procedures for creating images of an offender from eyewitness information. Much of his research has been with these devices. Some of his recent work, in collaboration with the other members of the Aberdeen research group, has involved the creation of an on-line computer system (FRAME) for retrieving composite images from witness information. Dr. Davies will discuss these and other aspects of his research in his talk on Friday.

Summer Retirements Announced

Two members of the college community have retired since the end of the 1985-86 academic year. Dr. Joseph Summerell, professor of English, retired as of July 1. Summerell, who taught courses in English literature and non-Western literature, had been a member of the faculty here since September of 1959.

Adelaide Abrams, who had been a stenographer with the English Department for the past 12 years, retired effective September 1. Abrams had been employed by the college since the spring of 1957 when she joined the home economics department as stenographer.

Dean of Business & Economics Position Assumed by Feldman

Dr. Wallace Feldman has assumed the post as Dean of the School of Business and Economics. Feldman was formerly professor of marketing and chairman of the marketing department at Suffolk University and earlier in his career was a member of the faculty at Boston College. In addition, he has fifteen years of experience in marketing, advertising, and consulting in the private sector.

Feldman has a bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Pittsburgh, an M.B.A. from Northwestern University and a D.B.A. from Harvard. He

Feinberg Exhibits Highlight Centennial, Nuclear Culture

Feinberg Library is the site of two unusual exhibits currently in place. The first, located on the main floor of the building in proximity to the reference room, is an exhibit honoring the college's entering freshmen who, upon graduation in 1990, will become the institution's "Centennial Class." Exhibit items include photos, yearbooks, memorabilia and class jewelry dating from 1885 to the present day. Named "Centennial Spirit," the exhibit is first of several planned that will focus on the college's history utilizing its archives, special collections and loans of material culture from alumni and friends of Plattsburgh State and the original Plattsburgh Normal School. The current display will be in place through Homecoming '86, October 17-19.

Paul Loeb, Distinguished Visiting Professor, who will be on campus from September 8-25, is the focus of the second exhibit which will be located in the lobby area between circulation and the library's main staircase. The subject is Nuclear Culture, including the productive and destructive capacities of nuclear energy and how they affect contemporary life. Materials for this exhibit have been drawn from the collections of the Feinberg Library and its staff.

has published articles in several scholarly journals in his field and is the author of three cases in marketing, one of which is listed in the Current Best Sellers, Selected Cases in Business Administration.

The appointment of Feldman this past summer concluded a nationwide search that was launched the previous October. In announcing the appointment, Acting President Jerome Supple noted that Feldman had impressed the search committee with his "articulation, his considerable energy, sense of direction, his awareness of internal and external constituencies of the college, his understanding of the realities of resource allocation in SUNY, and his candidness."

Sokolowski Family Creates Scholarship Endowment Fund

The Plattsburgh College Foundation received a gift of $5,000 recently to establish a scholarship fund to be known as the "Sokolowski Family Endowment." The donors — Donald and Suzanne Sokolowski and their son, Jonathan — created the award to provide a scholarship every other year to a full-time, undergraduate liberal arts major. The criteria stipulate further that the recipient must be a U.S. citizen and resident of New York State who has completed at least two semesters of study here and who has achieved a grade-point average of 3.0 or higher at the time of selection.

Suzanne Sokolowski has been a member of Plattsburgh State's financial aid staff since 1978. She assumed the role as director of financial aid the following year.

In acknowledging the gift, Acting President Jerome Supple described it as "especially meaningful." "I believe this not only because the gift is substantial and represents an expression of confidence in our institution by members of its 'family,'" he wrote. "It is gratifying also because it comes a source so knowledgeable about and closely associated with the Foundation and the good things it has accomplished for our students. I am certain the significance inherent to the Sokolowski Family Endowment fund will make it one of those most prized by the Foundation and by the students who will compete for the scholarships it will provide."

Kodak Extravaganza on China Scheduled for September 19

"China: A Journey in Pictures" is the title of the Eighth Annual Kodak Multivision Spectacular to be presented by the Center for International Studies at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, September 19, in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall. Tickets, priced at $1, are available at the Center at 133 Court Street.

The Kodak extravaganza on China is described as "an unforgettable panorama and experience of sights and sounds that will literally transport observers to the land of jade and splendor" and one that "is an exhilarating visual experience guaranteed to make China come alive." Previous shows in the Kodak series in the past seven years have focused on the United States, Canada, Britain and Ireland, Scandinavia, the Alps, Greece and Hawaii. All have played to full houses. Since it is unlikely that tickets for "China: A Journey in Pictures" will be available at the door, persons planning to attend the extravaganza are encouraged to pick them up at the Center at the earliest opportunity.

SPORTS UPDATE

The men's soccer team opened up the 1986 season with a pair of weekend contests. Chris Waterbury's booters dropped a 2-1 decision to Lyndon State on Saturday despite outshooting their hosts 16-5. The team rebounded to defeat Bishop's University 3-1 the following afternoon. Junior transfer Fernando Gualtieri scored PSUC's lone goal against Lyndon and tallied twice against Bishop's. The Cards play Castleton State today at 2 p.m. and have an away contest with Binghamton State this Saturday.

Coach Serge von Duvillard made a successful debut by guiding the women's soccer team to a second place finish in the Plymouth State pre-season invitational. The Cards defeated the nationally ranked host squad 1-0 and Division II St. Anselm's 2-1. The team then lost to Division I Dartmouth College. PSUC is at Skidmore tomorrow and will face the top team in Division III, Cortland State, on Saturday.

The men's and women's cross country teams opened the 1986 season by running in the St. Michael's Invitational. The men ran to a fifth place finish behind senior co-captain Glen Dow's eighth place finish. Due to illness and injury, the women were only able to run four harriers in their race. Those that did run, however, ran quite well. Sophomore Kathy Kane finished second followed by freshman Julie Dobert. Senior Ellen Kissane finished fifth and newcomer Lisa Langoff came in 14th.

The two squads travel to the University of Vermont on Saturday for a dual meet.

Shaffer Receives Coveted Award in APA National Competition

Dr. Lawrence Shaffer, associate professor of psychology, has won Honorable Mention in the four-year college/university division of the American Psychological Association Distinguished Teaching Award competition. A first place award and two honorable mention awards are given in the national competition. The awards are based on demonstrated influence in interesting students in the field of psychology, development of effective teaching methods, courses, and/or teaching materials, outstanding performance as a classroom teacher, and professional activity on or away from campus.

Acting President Jerome Supple commented, "We're very proud and pleased that Dr. Shaffer has been selected for this prestigious award. Lary's love for teaching and for his students shines through. The students know that he cares about them, and, as importantly, he understands them. Part of his ability is innate talent, but an equal or perhaps greater part is hard work."

Shaffer is a 1968 honors graduate of SUNY Plattsburgh and received his doctorate from the University of Oxford. He joined the faculty in 1976. He has won numerous awards and honors, including the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching (1980), the Distinguished Alumnus Award (1983), and Phi Eta Sigma's Distinguished Faculty Award (1984). For the past five years, Shaffer has delivered the Opening Week speech to new freshmen. He also serves as a SUNY representative at various high school presentations, is a member of the Honors Planning Committee, the Commencement Committee, and the Presidential Scholars Selection Committee.

500+ Honor the Burkes; Endowment Tops $9,500

Approximately 525 friends, colleagues and admirers of former President Joseph C. Burke and his wife, Joan, turned out to "toast" and "roast" the Burke years at Plattsburgh State in a testimonial dinner program in their honor held Saturday evening in the ballroom of the Angell College Center.

Dr. Burke served as president of the college from 1974 until his appointment last month as provost of the 64-campus SUNY system.

The highlight of the evening, in addition to good-natured barbs mixed with solemn tributes delivered by representatives of all college and community constituencies, was the announcement of creation of an endowment fund in the name of the Burkes valued at more than $9,500. The endowment was made possible by contributions by friends of the Burkes, including many who could not attend the testimonial but chose to donate to the fund, by proceeds from a percentage of the cost to put on the dinner, and by contributions of $1,000 from each of the Alumni Association and the College Foundation and $500 from both College Auxiliary Services and the Student Association.

"We're pleased, especially for the Burkes, that this event turned out to be such a success," said Don Gar rant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, who chaired the testimonial planning committee. "We had estimated originally that we

Hawkins Hall Main Auditorium

The main auditorium in Hawkins Hall, Plattsburgh State's landmark building, was given a new name last Sunday afternoon. In a brief but dignified ceremony, the facility was named to commemorate the memory of the late E. Glenn Giltz, North Country business executive, civic leader and benefactor of the college. Giltz had been an advocate and leading supporter of the Plattsburgh College Foundation for many years, and its president from 1976 until his death last December at the age of 74. The Foundation flourished under the direction of Mr. Giltz.

The dedication program featured remembrances of Giltz and his altruism by former Plattsburgh President Joseph C. Burke, by current Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman, and by Bruce Van Schaick, a member of the class of 1988 who was designated a Giltz Presidential Scholar in the fall of 1985. Robert M. Garrow '52, chair of the College Council, named the facility formally in accordance with procedures established by the SUNY Trustees. Mrs. Leah Giltz, widow of the late Mr. Giltz, and Linda Giltz Abry, unveiled the dedicatory plaque that is affixed adjacent to the entrance to the auditorium. Roderic Giltz, tual figures are overwhelming. They say a great deal about campus and community sentiment toward Joe and Joan Burke. At the same time, they say a lot about the local community's high regard and support for this institution."

Among the tributes read during the testimonial was one from Governor Mario Cuomo that cited Burke's "twelve years of distinguished service" to Plattsburgh State. "Though Plattsburgh will feel your loss keenly," wrote Cuomo, "the Family of New York will continue to benefit from your wisdom, experience and dedication to academic excellence in your new capacity as Provost for the SUNY system."

State University Chancellor Clifton R. Wharton Jr., who was kept from attending the event because of a prior commitment, also sent greetings "extending congratulations to the Burkes" and wishing the former Plattsburgh president good fortune as his service to State University "enters a new phase with a 'change of venue.'"

"The dedication and support of people like Joe and Joan Burke have helped make (SUNY) the great institution it is," wrote Wharton. "The contributions they have made to the Plattsburgh campus will never be forgotten. We are delighted they will continue that role in Albany and that Joe will be helping SUNY confront its many challenges in his new assignment as Provost of the University."

Campus and community representatives who "remembered the Burke years" both lightheartedly and seriously included Mrs. Judith Duken '59, a former chair of the Plattsburgh College Council who currently serves as a member of SUNY's Board of Trustees; Dr. Jerome H. Supple, vice president for academic affairs; Daniel Takacs, '58, president of the Alumni Association; Robert M. Garrow '52, chair of the College Council; Dr. John L. Myers, chair of the college's Faculty Senate; Perry Cuocci, president of the Student Association; Melvin R. Bruno '61, chair of the Clinton County Legislature; Carlton E. Rennell '65, mayor of the City of Plattsburgh; and Curtis E. Shipman, president of the Plattsburgh College Foundation.

Activist-Author Paul Loeb Here as Visiting Professor

Paul Loeb, well-known peace activist and author, is spending three weeks on campus as a Distinguished Visiting Professor. Until September 25, Loeb will be teaching classes, directing workshops and presenting several public lectures. Beginning in 1974, Loeb edited "Liberation" magazine, a publication which had been raising issues of peace and justice for 20 years. In 1976, he left the magazine to become a free lance writer. Since that time, he has written for a wide range of journals and newspapers on subjects ranging from the new cold war to sexual politics, the neo-conservatives and the nuclear world. Loeb is the author of Nuclear Culture: Living and Working at the World's Largest Atomic Complex, which was published in 1982, and Hope in Hard Times, published this year.

Moll to Temporarily Direct Personnel, Affirmative Action

He refers to it jokingly as a "command performance," but Robert G. Moll has come out of retirement to temporarily direct the college's Office of Personnel and Affirmative Action.

Moll, who first became affiliated with Plattsburgh State some 20 years ago — following retirement from the U.S. Air Force — as the assistant to the chairman of the then Division of Arts and Science, assumed the acting director's post on September 1. He was retained after a nationwide search for a permanent director to succeed Mayerlyn Miller, who resigned that position last spring after two years of service to the college, was unsuccessful. He will continue as acting director until a permanent director is appointed. A new search will be launched in the near future.

Moll, who holds the M.B.A. from the University of Chicago, served 26 years in the Air Force, achieving the rank of full colonel. His service included a three-year tour at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, where he commanded the 380th Bomb Wing. Prior to joining Plattsburgh State in 1966, he spent his final year in

Residence Hall Occupancy Up; Number on Meal Plan Increases

Plattsburgh State's enrollment picture for 1986-87 is reflected in unofficial figures related to residence hall occupancy and the number of students who have subscribed to the campus food service plan.

According to Vice President for Student Affairs Eldridge Roark, 2,742 students were occupying rooms in the college's 12 residence halls as of September 8. He pointed out that the total represented an increase of about 50 occupants in comparison with figures available on the same date a year ago. Based on enrollment projections, he said, the occupancy total was significantly higher than the budgeted number. Roark added that the figure does not take into account 14 additional men students being housed in guest rooms. He explained that the demand for on-campus accommodations for male students this fall exceeded the residence capacity for men.

Roark stated further that 2,786 students — 44 more than are living in halls — were on the meal plan as of September 8. He explained that the difference was made up of commuter students who had opted to purchase the meal plan and those students temporarily housed in guest rooms.

the military as deputy inspector general of the 8th Air Force at Westover Air Force Base in Springfield, MA. From January until June of 1984, when he retired from the college, Moll served as acting director of personnel and affirmative action "on loan" from the Faculty of Arts and Science.

'China Weekend' Events Set

This coming weekend is being billed as "China Weekend" at Plattsburgh State. Activities get underway at 4 p.m. on Friday with Professor Ronald Knapp of the geography department at New Paltz State lecturing on "The Real China" in a symposium scheduled for the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge. Knapp, a noted expert on China, recently returned from a visit to that nation. "China: A Journey in Pictures," the eighth annual Kodak multivision spectacular, will be presented at 7:30 Friday evening in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall. Tickets, priced at $1, are available at the Center for International Studies at 133 Court St. The weekend will conclude Saturday with "China in Montreal," a 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. field trip that will include visits to "China's Treasures and Splendors at Palais de la Civilisation Il Notre Dame" and the Bonzai exhibit at Montreal's Botanical Gardens, and lunch at a Chinese restaurant.

China Weekend is being sponsored by the Center for International Studies in cooperation with the college's history department and its Asian studies committee. Further information may be obtained by calling 564-2086.

Residence Staff Log Impressive Spring Term, Cumulative gpa's

Academic data compiled on the spring semester of 1986 indicate that students who are members of the campus residence hall staff perform well in their studies. Fifty-six of 104 staff members achieved grade-point averages of 3.0 or higher last spring. The overall semester average was 3.113 and the overall cumulative average was 3.064. The former by comparison remained on par with or slightly ahead of data on semesters in each of the previous six terms, while the cumulative average overall showed improvement over every semester back to spring of 1983.

Twenty-five residence hall staff had grade-point averages of 3.5 or higher last spring, and nine achieved 4.0 — the highest average possible. The latter included Paul Bardis, Corinne Budzynski, Robin Dembo, Peter Fauth, Julie Jock, Judy LaBombardi, Mary Redmond, Barb Wilck, and Dan Zanon. Wilson Hall staff led the 12 campus residence halls in both categories with an overall semester average of 3.27 and a cumulative average of 3.212.

Presidential Scholars Show Promise of Academic Excellence

The ten students who began their undergraduate careers at Plattsburgh last week as Presidential Scholars brought impressive academic credentials to campus with them. Information supplied by Dr. David Mowry, director of the college's Honors Program, indicates that the Presidential Scholars collectively compiled a mean SAT score of 1242 and a mean high school average of 93.16. Presidential Scholars — all freshmen — are selected by a committee solely on the basis of academic merit and promise to receive the equivalent of full-tuition scholarships for four years from the Plattsburgh College Foundation.

This year's recipients (listed alphabetically), their hometowns and majors are: Cassandra Belair, Allegany, biochemistry; Kirk Christensen, Ballston Lake, business; Peter Giesin, North Blenheim, 3/2 engineering; Gary Hammond, Heuvelton, accounting; Aileen Kenneson, Kirkville, biology; Karen Lewton, Greenfield Center, business; Brian Olson, Mechanicville, communications; Steven Ramer, Hamlin, biochemistry/biophysics; Donna Rehm, Whitehall, accounting; and Ellen Rudd, Somers, French (3/2 Monterey).

SPORTS UPDATE

The men's soccer team dropped a 4-1 decision to Binghamton State in the team's SUNYAC opener at Binghamton. Senior Eric Husselbeck tallied the lone Cardinal score. Earlier in the week the Cards defeated Lyndon State 2-0 on a pair of Fernando Gualtieri scores. Cortland State visits this Saturday at 1 p.m.

Serge von Duvillard's women's soccer team opened the 1986 regular season by splitting a pair of contests. The Cards defeated Skidmore 1-0 in overtime on Thursday before dropping a 3-1 decision to top-ranked Cortland State on Saturday. At Cortland, the Cards held a 1-0 lead at halftime before the Red Dragons broke through in the second half. The team plays at Clarkson today and will entertain SUNYAC foe New Paltz State at 3 p.m. on Saturday.

The men's and women's cross country teams dropped decisions to the University of Vermont on Saturday. Sophomore Kathy Kane finished third in the women's race while Glenn Dow came in sixth in the men's event. Both teams will travel to Middlebury for a triangular meet with St. Michael's on Saturday.

An inexperienced volleyball squad dropped four matches at the Cortland State Invitational on Saturday.

be inducted this fall at Homecoming (Oct. 17-19) to the Plattsburgh State Sports Hall of Fame.

The inductees, selected by a committee representing the Cardinal Booster Club, which sponsors the Hall of Fame in cooperation with the Alumni Association, are:

Dr. Ernest P. "Ernie" Rangazas (St. Augustine, Fla.), former professor and chair of the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and Director of Athletics, whose coaching duties included baseball and football, who brought the World University Games of the International Sports Federation (FISU) and the United States Olympic Team to campus and the North Country in 1972 and 1976, respectively, and who retired in the summer of 1985 following a 29-year career at Plattsburgh State;

Tom Chapin (Piermont), class of 1966, record-setting rebounder, two-time SUNYAC All-Conference center, NAIA Honorable Mention All-America, who has made his mark in the entertainment industry — as an acclaimed concert performer, television series host and composer — and in service to less fortunate people in the world, particularly through World Hunger Year, the non-profit organization founded by his late brother, Harry;

John F. Longware (Peru), class of 1956, floor general and scoring leader for Cardinal basketball teams that went 31-6 during '53-54 and '54-55 campaigns, an educator and educational administrator in the Peru Central School District for nearly three decades who has served his alma mater's Alumni Association and the Plattsburgh College Foundation in a variety of leadership and advisory roles since his graduation; of the Cardinal women's team from '66-68, who was an honor student and active participant in student government, who was voted Plattsburgh State's "outstanding woman athlete" in 1966, and who is active today in a variety of community service activities ranging from school and church volunteer work to coaching youth basketball and softball; and

James F. Sears (Beekmantown), from the class of '54, four-year starter and twice captain of Cardinal basketball teams who also starred in baseball, former teacher and — for nearly three decades — elementary school principal in the Beekmantown Central School District, North Country political leader, town council member, member and past chair of the Clinton Coun-

Several Hundred Expected Here for Parents Weekend Activities

Several hundred parents are expected on campus this weekend to visit their students and to take part in the college's Annual Parents Weekend. Activities will get underway Friday evening, with a "Get-Acquainted Reception" in the Angell Center Orchard Room from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Two planetarium shows are completely reserved. Parents Night at the Point and an All-Campus Gym Night round out the evening's program.

On Saturday, visiting parents may tour the campus, meet with faculty, or enjoy several sports events.

— Welcome Parents & Prospective Students! —

Saturday's Open House Augments Already Busy Weekend

The Fall Open House for prospective students and their families will be held on Saturday, September 27, in conjunction with the annual Parents Weekend. Invitations have been sent to approximately 6,000 high school students who have expressed an interest in SUNY Plattsburgh, either by requesting information or by sending their SAT or ACT scores to the college. A welcoming session will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Angell Center Ballroom, followed by visits to the various academic departments and a walking tour of the campus. During the afternoon, workshops on the admissions process, financial aid at SUNY Plattsburgh, and campus living will be held in Yokum Hall. The visitors have also been invited to attend the six "For Your Information" workshops being held in the late afternoon as part of the Parents Weekend schedule.

Booster Club Fund Drive Begins With Goal Set at Record $15,000

The Cardinal Booster Club's 1986 membership drive is underway with a challenge to raise a record $15,000 in gifts from supporters of Plattsburgh State's intercollegiate athletic program by December 31.

"The goal is ambitious," remarked Booster Club President Tom Glasgow '71, who is principal of Oak Street and Bailey Avenue Schools in the Plattsburgh City School District. "However, the record shows that our organization raised more than $13,400 a year ago to surpass its 1985 goal by 62 percent, so we're optimistic we can continue this pattern of success. An awareness is obviously growing that funds for intercollegiate athletics at Plattsburgh are in short supply, and our supporters apparently appreciate the help the Booster Club has been able to provide."

In addition to establishing and sponsoring the Plattsburgh Sports Hall of Fame and the annual Sports Night Banquet and Recognition Program for all men and women athletes, the Cardinal Booster Club has purchased athletic training equipment, warm weather practice jerseys for the men's soccer team and uniforms for women's tennis team. It has allocated funds to supplement coaches' budgets for recruitment of student-athletes, and Booster Club funds will make possible the Cardinal hockey team's November visit to Alaska to compete in a four-game series with the Universities of Alaska at Anchorage and Fairbanks.

Membership requires a minimum contribution of $25. In addition to several social events held annually, including the annual "Meet the Coaches Night" program scheduled for the Orchard Room in the Angell Center at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 30, members receive a card that entitles them to reduced-price admission to regular season home hockey and basketball games.

John Carpenter '73, who chairs the Booster Club's membership drive, pointed out that the average gift in 1985 was about $58. "In the current drive," he said, "we are asking prospective members to consider joining at that dollar level or higher."

The Cardinal Booster Club is affiliated with both the Plattsburgh College Foundation and the college's Alumni Association. Further information may be obtained by calling 564-2090.

ty Legislature, and respected public servant.

The five newest members of the Sports Hall of Fame will be inducted formally during ceremonies following a brunch scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, October 19 in the ballroom of the Angell College Center (tickets for this event are $6, and are available in the Office of Alumni Affairs, Kehoe 811). Preceding the induction by one-half hour will be dedication of the Hall of Fame exhibit that will hang on the east wall of the recently renovated lobby area of Memorial Hall. The exhibit will display photographs and text describing the athletic and personal and professional accomplishments of the newest inductees as well as the nine others who have been honored since the Hall was established in 1984.

The Plattsburgh State Hall of Fame was created "to give recognition to individuals who have participated in the college's intercollegiate athletic program and whose achievements and contributions exemplify the ideals of good citizenship." The inductees for 1986 were chosen from among more than 30 nominees.

At 2:30 p.m., three workshops will be presented by faculty and students, and at 3:15 p.m., three additional workshops will be offered. (For details, see "This Week on Campus.") New members will be inducted into Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen, at 4 p.m. in the Angell Center Orchard Room. Acting President and Mrs. Jerome Supple will host the President's Reception and Dinner, which will feature special performances by the Cardinal Singers and the Jazz Ensemble. The evening will be topped off by "Party Night at the Angell Center," which is open to the entire campus community. Disc jockey Fred Little will provide dance music in the Ballroom, pianist Jean Morlock will entertain in the Orchard Room, and the Lady Luck trio will perform in the Point.

Reservations for the various events may be made through Thursday afternoon in the Office of College Relations and Development, Room 803, Kehoe Building.

Second Installment Received on Northern Telecom Endowment

Northern Telecom, Ltd., a major Canadian multinational corporation and long-time supporter of the Center for the Study of Canada at SUNY Plattsburgh, has presented a $20,000 check to the Plattsburgh College Foundation to be placed in the company's endowment fund. Northern Telecom established its endowment fund in support of the college's Canadian Studies program two years ago, with a pledge of $90,000 to be contributed within five years. The first payment of $50,000 was received in the fall of 1984.

The Northern Telecom endowment fund is the largest endowment to be established to date with SUNY Plattsburgh by a corporation. The money is used to fund scholarships for Canadian Studies majors, library acquisitions, faculty travel and research, and special Canadian-oriented activities.

College Council to Meet Oct. 2

The College Council will hold its first meeting of the new academic year on Thursday, October 2 at 3:30 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge of the College Center. Council meetings are open to the college community.

Robert M. Garrow, chairperson, reports that the agenda will include the following action items: Naming of the sculpture court in the Myers Fine Arts Building in honor of Mrs. Nina Winkel, urging removal of the wooden telephone poles by the New York Telephone Company on Rugar St. between Broad St. and South Prospect Ave., commending three retirees, and establishing new parking regulations.

Discussion items will focus on the presidential search, the budget, and Middle States accreditation and enrollment.

EDTAC Receives $34,000 Grant From ANCA for Regional Study

The Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center (TAC) at the college has received a $34,000 grant from the Adirondack North Country Association (ANCA) to fund a survey project. The survey is designed to determine the resource and information needs of North Country professional economic and industrial developers and to identify ways in which their needs can be met. Stimulation of the region's economy is a primary objective of both TAC and ANCA.

"This project is of particular interest to us in that it provides an opportunity to work with another organization whose geographic service area, objectives, and interests are similar to those of TAC," said Acting President Jerome H. Supple.

ANCA, a private, non-profit organization serving the 14 New York counties north of the Mohawk River, works to strengthen the economy of the region and to create and retain jobs in agriculture, tourism, forestry, business and industry. In addition to the new project, ANCA is helping TAC create "Venture Capital Network," a computer-assisted service that will match entrepreneurs with interested investors.

ANCA President Frank A. Augsbury, Jr., noted, "We are pleased to support this project. It combines university research and service with private non-profit organization resources for the purpose of appropriate private sector development. The ultimate beneficiaries will be North Country residents as we work together to create a stronger, more diversified economy."

SPORTS UPDATE

Brett Hull's women's cross country team defeated Middlebury and St. Michael's in a triangular meet on Saturday. The Cards placed five runners in the top 10 led by Kathy Kane's second place finish. Freshman Julie Dobert was fourth and senior Ellen Kissane followed in sixth.

The men's team clobbered St. Michael's but dropped a close decision to Middlebury. Sophomore Andy Hill and senior Glenn Dow finished fourth and fifth respectively. This Saturday Plattsburgh will host the Cardinal Classic.

The volleyball team showed great improvement this weekend by earning a spot in the semi-finals of the North Country Invitational at Potsdam State. The Cards dropped their opening match to Oneonta State before whipping Potsdam and Nazareth College to earn a place in the semis against state-ranked Elmira. Plattsburgh played a game match against the Soaring Eagles but fell 15-4, 8-15, 15-10.

The women's soccer team posted a pair of 3-0 decisions last week to run its record to 3-1. On Wednesday the Cards outshot a short-handed Clarkson squad to post the win. Saturday they blanked SUNYAC rival New Paltz. The Cardinals host powerful St. Lawrence tomorrow and Union College on Saturday.

Fernando Gualtieri scored a goal midway through the second half to lead the men's soccer team past Albany State in a SUNYAC game last week. On Saturday, however, PSUC dropped a 3-0 decision to Cortland State. The 3-3 Cardinals host St. Lawrence today at 4 p.m.

College to be Canadian Film Distribution Center

SUNY Plattsburgh has been designated by the National Film Board (NFB) of Canada to be its official distribution center in the United States, according to Dr. Richard Beach, director of the Center for the Study of Canada. Beach explained that more than 300 films will be housed on campus and will be available for loan to any educational or cultural institution or organization in the U.S.

The Canadian Department of External Affairs is providing substantial financial support for the project. Use of the funds will include the hiring of a Canadian Studies resource specialist and the housing and maintenance of more than 300 of the National Film Board's films in the media services center.

"We were flattered and pleased that the Film Board and the Canadian government approached us to handle this project when the Chicago distribution center closed in early summer," said Beach. "At the local level," he said, "it means our own faculty will have easy access to this film collection, but is also will most certainly enhance the reputation of our Canadian Studies program — nationally and internationally."

The National Film Board of Canada was established in the early 1940's to promote innovative and creative filmmaking in Canada. The NFB has earned a worldwide reputation for its productions, which range from standard documentaries on various aspects of Canadian life to avant garde films. Beach said the campus office is expected to be operational by late October.

Research Team Engaged in El Salvador Project

The direction of future U.S. assistance for rural development in El Salvador to be determined by the Agency for International Development (AID) and Congress may depend on the results of a study being conducted under auspices of a Plattsburgh State-led research team.

Dr. Peter Gore, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, explained that in July he was asked by the AID Mission in El Salvador to lead a research effort to evaluate the Agrarian Reform Program in that nation. He said the objective was to re-interview more than 1,350 rural residents who were surveyed initially in 1978 by a research team from the Ohio State University.

"During August," he said, "we conducted a feasibility study in two 'departments' — departments in El Salvador are on the order of states in our country — to determine whether enough of the original respondents could be located to make the larger study worthwhile. Through intensive fieldwork we located 79 percent of the original respondents in one department and 50 percent in the other, where civil war has been most intense. This more than justified continuing on with the country-wide study, which will be completed next June."

At Gore's request, the AID Mission in El Salvador has retained Thomas Johnston, who graduated from

Plattsburgh in May of 1985 with a degree in Latin American Studies, to be the office and data manager for the project. "Johnston was considered ideal for the job on the basis of his training in Latin American Studies and in Spanish here," commented Gore. "He will be in residence in El Salvador during the interviewing phase of the project from January through March of next year."

In addition to implications for future development in El Salvador, Gore termed the project "remarkable academically" in that it will be the first panel study on rural development to be conducted in that country. That, he said, makes it a candidate for several journal articles.

"A final, 'serendipitous' feature of the project," said Gore, "is that it will provide many primary resource materials for our Latin American Studies majors who are preparing for next spring's Model Assembly of the Organization of American States in Washington, D.C. They will participate as delegates from El Salvador."

Well-known as a rural sociologist, Gore has been involved in a number of studies on Latin American nations. In 1982 he was selected by the U.S. State Department to a four-person team that evaluated land reform in El Salvador. The following spring he received a grant from the International Crop Consortium to develop pictographic symbols for the safe use of pesticides in Latin America, and he was the principal author of a proposal funded in 1983 by Rotary International to create a training and demonstration center for small farmers in Ecuador.

Buckley-Higgins NSF Grant to Support 'Family' Workshop

Dr. Suzann Buckley, professor of history, and Dr. Patricia Higgins, associate professor of anthropology, have received a $42,322 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities-Youth Project to sponsor a workshop on "Family History in the North Country."

Up to 30 middle school students will be selected to participate in a six-week summer workshop focusing on the concepts and methodologies of history and historical anthropology through active investigation of family history. The workshop is divided into two units, the first on the students' own family history and the second on occupations and their historical impact on family life.

While this grant is a new one, the project itself is not. Buckley and Higgins have conducted "Family History" workshops for the past two summers. Participants in the two previous workshops have visited

Researcher-Writer Berliner Booked as Visiting Professor

Dr. David Berliner, one of America's best-known and highly respected researchers and writers on teaching effectiveness, will visit Plattsburgh State from October 9 to 11 as a Visiting Distinguished Professor.

Berliner, professor and chair of the department of educational psychology at the University of Arizona, has published extensively in a variety of journals on topics related to learning theory, teacher education and cognition. He is recognized as a major contributor to the field of education in the areas of curriculum development, time-on-task, effective schools, expert-novice relationships, retention, and transfer of learning and ability grouping, among others. A member of the executive board of the Federation of Behavioral, Psychological and Cognitive Sciences and past president of the American Educational Research Association, he is called upon frequently to deliver keynote speeches at national and international conferences.

During his three-day visit to campus, Berliner will conduct a series of workshops of interest to students, faculty and the general public, particularly to North Country educators and educational administrators. All workshop presentations are open. Further information may be obtained by contacting Dr. Michael Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, at 564-2122.

various museums, cemeteries, and historical sites in Clinton and Essex counties, and the results of their research and studies have been presented to students in several middle schools in the two counties.

SEFA Drive to Begin Soon; Moran Appointed Coordinator

The campus campaign in support of the 1987 State Employees Federated Appeal (SEFA) will get underway early in October, and the objective is to restore it to a level of giving it achieved in the past.

According to Dr. Thomas Moran, associate vice president for academic affairs, who has been appointed by Acting President Jerome Supple to coordinate this fall's drive, charitable giving through SEFA by Plattsburgh State employees has not measured up to expectations in either of the last two years. He pointed out that the 1985 campus gift total barely topped $16,000, an amount substantially below either of the previous two years and what could and should be generated by the college community.

"We estimate that if every employee pledged or contributed $1 per week, Plattsburgh State's contribution to the SEFA campaign would surpass $40,000," commented Moran. "That figure is realistic considering the number of employees we have and the size of the total payroll. Our task is to devise a new pattern of giving that will re-establish Plattsburgh State as a leading resource for charitable giving in northeastern New York State."

Moran said that representatives from various departments through the college will serve as volunteer solicitors. He encouraged prospective contributors to consider the payroll deduction method of giving. "It's relatively painless," he said, "and it enables donors to give more than they might be able to afford out-of-pocket." He pointed out also that the drive provides a means whereby contributions can be put to use in the local community. "It's an opportunity to support a wide range of services vital to our neighbors," he said.

The SEFA campaign, which will conclude on campus before Thanksgiving, encompasses the United Way of Clinton County and its 20 human service agencies, the four agencies affiliated with the Clinton County Health Council, six Health Agencies of New York, and 16 International Service Agencies. Literature describing the services offered by each will be distributed with pledge cards.

Early Results of Alumni Phonathon Indicate Favorable Response

Student volunteers place the calls to engender support for the 1986 Annual Alumni Fund.

The annual student phonathon to generate gifts to the Plattsburgh College Foundation through the Alumni Fund has been in operation for more than a week, and the results tabulated through the first four days of the campaign are encouraging.

More than 500 alumni residing in all parts of the United States were contacted and asked for the financial support during the period of Monday, September 22 through Thursday, the 25th, and the pledge total surpassed $12,700. The figures compare favorably with those for the first four nights of calling a year ago when 283 alumni pledged slightly more than $6,600.

Bob Hendrickson, director of annual giving and coordinator of the 1986 phonathon, said he was

Flynn Receives Six Particles of Cosmic Dust for Research

SUNY Plattsburgh has joined a very small group of educational and research institutions as the proud owners of samples of cosmic dust. Six particles of the dust, thought to be given off by comets, have been allocated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to Dr. George Flynn, assistant professor of physics. Flynn said this week that the present NASA inventory of cosmic dust consists of about one-millionth of an ounce. Individual particles are so small that they can only be seen under a microscope. Flynn will be working with scientists at the Brookhaven National Laboratory in perfecting techniques to determine the chemical composition of these six particles. Before joining the faculty here, Flynn was involved in research on cosmic dust particles and meteorites at Washington University in St. Louis.

especially pleased by the fact that the 31 participating student callers have been successful in convincing 144 new alumni donors to pledge $2,600 in gifts to their alma mater. The phonathon, he said, is expected to raise $40,000 of the overall $100,000 Alumni Fund goal for the year, which ends December 31.

Headquarters for the phonathon is the sixth floor conference room in the Kehoe Building, and calling takes place in the evening. In addition to asking for financial support, the student solicitors have opportunity to answer questions about Plattsburgh State and current developments here, to remind alumni about events surrounding next month's Homecoming Weekend celebration and, in some cases, to renew acquaintances with recent graduates.

"Our student volunteers are doing a super job in performing this important service to Plattsburgh State," said Hendrickson. One of the rewards for their help, he added, is a bright red T-shirt calling attention to their participation in the campaign. "A second reward we grant them," he said, "is a free phone call home at the end of each evening."

The phonathon will continue through October 30.

McGill, Stony Brook Scholars to Lecture on Varied Topics

Two guest faculty will lecture at the college in the next week on invitation of the Women's Studies program and other campus groups.

Tomorrow at 11:25 a.m. in the Cardinal Lounge of the Angell College Center, Dr. Prudence Rains, professor of Sociology at McGill University will address the Women's Studies Forum on the topic, "Women, Crime and Justice." Rains will discuss research pertaining to women's criminality and women in corrections. At 4:15 p.m. in room 201 of Redcay Hall, Rains will give a presentation on "Juvenile Justice and the Boys Farm." This presentation is based on her research. In addition to Women's Studies, Rains visit is being sponsored by the sociology department and the Sociology Club and the Center for the Study of Canada.

Dr. Stephen Cole, a member of the SUNY Stony Brook faculty who has conducted extensive research on stratification in science, will deliver two lectures here on Thursday, October 9. At 11:45 a.m., he will lecture on "Sex Discrimination and Admission to Medical School: 1929 to 1984" at a Women's Studies Forum to be held in the Cardinal Lounge. At 4:15 p.m. in room 106 of Hudson Hall, he will discuss "The Role of Luck in Getting a NSF Grant," a talk based on his research at the National Science Foundation that focuses on the proposal review process. Cole will visit the Plattsburgh campus through the SUNY Faculty Scholar Exchange Program.

The lectures by Rains and Cole are open to all.

Senate Supports Recommendation to Return to 50-Minute Calendar

At its September meeting, the Faculty Senate voted to endorse a resolution which would replace the current, experimental academic year calendar based on 55-minute class sessions to one based on 50 minutes, to be effective with the beginning of academic 1987-88.

The resolution, submitted by the Senate Executive Committee in concurrence with the recommendations of an Ad Hoc Calendar Committee, has been approved by Acting President Jerome H. Supple. A new calendar will be drafted in the office of the vice president for academic affairs. After consultation with appropriate campus constituencies, the vice president will recommend adoption of an official college calendar to the president.

The Ad Hoc Calendar Committee had found in a survey of faculty and students that the 55-minute experimental calendar adopted for 1985-86 and 1986-87, which compressed each semester by one week, was "educationally inferior" and urged a return to the traditional 50-minute calendar. It also recommended that "calendar-makers," beginning with academic 1987-88, recognize several principles as guidelines. The principles, endorsed by the Senate, include provisions that "educational effectiveness" shall be the principal priority in calendar formulation; that the first semester will begin (when possible) after Labor Day and conclude before Christmas, and that the spring term will begin in January and end in May; and that faculty will be provided at least five working days between the last day of classes and the date grades are due for the proper evaluation of student performance. The guidelines also addressed the matter of semester breaks, including one that calls for the spring break to coincide with Easter weekend when possible.

SPORTS UPDATE

The women's volleyball team finished second in the first phase of the SUNYAC East qualifying tournament on Saturday. The host Cardinals lost to Albany State 8-15, 7-15 before upsetting Potsdam, 15-10, 17-15 and New Paltz, 12-15, 15-12, 16-14. Seena Ferrara led the Cardinals with 15 points, 12 aces, 37 kills and one block. The Cards travel to Clarkson this weekend for a match with Russell Sage, St. Lawrence and the host team.

The men's soccer team snapped a three-game losing streak by trouncing Utica Tech 8-0 on Sunday. The Cards, who lost to Division I power Oneonta State 4-1 the day before, were led by Fernando Gualtieri's hat trick. Tom Millington, Adam Kahn, Jeff Esposito, Jon Archer and Dan McDermott also scored for the 4-5 Cardinals, who host Potsdam State today at 4:00 p.m.

Kathy Kane captured individual honors on Saturday to lead the women's cross country team to a first place finish in the Cardinal Classic. The sophomore distance ace covered the course in 21:47.5. Julie Dobert, Ellen Kissane, Cheryl Miner and Judy Serth all finished in the top 15 to lead Plattsburgh to an easy win. The men's squad dropped a heartbreaking one-point decision to St. Michael's on Saturday. Andy Hill was the top Cardinal runner with a sixth place finish.

The women's soccer team blanked visiting Union College 3-0 on Saturday. Lisa LeVielle, Mary Jane Dillon and Misty Althizer all tallied for the 4-2 Cardinals, who outshot their foes 20-2. The Cards will travel to Oneonta State on Saturday to play the Red Dragons in a key SUNYAC battle.

Diana Alexander's women's tennis team split the two matches it played last week. On Thursday the Cardinals whitewashed visiting Trinity College 9-0. Two days later they dropped a tough 6-2 match to a talented Middlebury College squad. The Cardinals host St. Lawrence University today at 3:00 p.m. at the Macdonough courts.

Eighteen Named to Presidential Search Committee

The College Council has selected eighteen persons to serve on a committee that will participate in the search for a new president. The search committee, which will be chaired by Council Chairperson Robert M. Garrow, will meet for the first time on November 6.

The committee, broadly representative of the campus community, consists of:

Eight faculty and one professional staff person chosen from a list of 16 names submitted by the executive committee of the Faculty Senate: William Crosby, professor of art; Dr. Robert Hofer, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, professor of counseling; Dr. Dennis Kimmage, associate librarian; Dr. John Meyer, professor of communications; Dr. Charles Mitchell, professor of education; Dr. Eleanor Stoller, professor of sociology; and Michael Walsh, assistant director of admissions.

Students (selected by SA President Perry Cuocci): Michelle Loomis, Ann McLaughlin and Laurie Mante.

Academic Deans (chosen by the deans): Dr.

Nicholas F. Troisi, dean of professional studies.

Executive Staff (chosen by the executive staff): Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development.

Classified Staff (recommended by the classified staff): Ms. Betty Lennon, stenographer in the department of physical education, athletics and recreational sports.

Alumni (chosen by Alumni Association President Daniel Takacs): Malcolm R. Lavery, director of alumni affairs.

College Council (selected by the Council): James Campbell and Catherine Young.

Garrow and Cuocci will serve on the search committee as ex-officio members. Beverly Forster, assistant to the president, will serve as secretary of the committee.

It is the responsibility of the search committee to review applications and nominations — a process that is scheduled to begin in mid-November — and to recommend three candidates, with all relevant documentation, to the College Council. If the Council deems one of the candidates to be acceptable, it recommends that candidate to the Chancellor and the SUNY Trustees. The latter body has the legal authority to appoint presidents within the University system.

Canadian Studies Program Notes 20th Anniversary

The college's Canadian Studies Program will mark its twentieth anniversary next week with a two-day celebration and a series of special events.

"This is a significant occasion for the campus," commented Dr. Jerome Supple, vice president for academic affairs. "Our Canadian Studies program is an outstanding example of interdisciplinary and intercultural education and we're very proud that it is recognized nationally and internationally as one of the best, if not the best, in the United States."

Special events are planned for Thursday and Friday, October 16 and 17, according to Dr. Richard Beach, director of the Center for the Study of Canada. A Canadian information booth will be open in the Angell Center Lobby on both days, and a wide variety of films from the National Film Board of Canada will be shown in the Angell Center Conference Room from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

Thursday's Women's Studies Forum will feature Andree Levesque of McGill's Department of History, discussing "Myths and Realities About Women in Quebec." Thursday afternoon, symposia on Canada and Latin America, Canada and Asia, and Canada and the United States will be held in the Cardinal Lounge. The last session will feature a guest lecture by Canadian Consul General Robert Johnstone.

On Friday, a special Canada-U.S. Student Panel discussion will be held in the morning. Jeremy Kinsman, assistant deputy minister of cultural affairs for the Canadian Department of Communications, will discuss "Canadian Culture Today" at 2:45 p.m. and Charles E.S. Franks of Queen's University will lecture on "Canada-U.S. Perspective" at 4 p.m.

A performance by the renowned Toronto Dance Theatre at 8 p.m. in the Hartman Theatre and a fireworks display in cooperation with the Student Association will conclude the festivities on Friday evening.

A listing of events, times, and places will be found in "This Week on Campus" in this issue and the next.

Cardinals to Challenge Russian Hockey Team

Plattsburgh State and the American Hockey Association of the United States (AHAUS) have entered an agreement that will bring a leading amateur hockey team from the Soviet Union to campus in December to take on the Plattsburgh State Cardinals in an exhibition game.

College officials announced Friday that the Moscow-based Spartak team, currently ranked third in the 12-team Elite Division in Soviet amateur hockey, will meet the Cardinals on Friday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Plattsburgh State Field House. Plattsburgh will be the eighth stop for Spartak on its 10-game 1986 tour of the U.S., and the Cardinals are

Myers Building Courtyard Area Named 'Winkel Sculpture Court'

The courtyard area in the Myers Fine Arts Building that is in the process of being enclosed will be known officially as the Winkel Sculpture Court upon its completion.

The College Council last Thursday unanimously endorsed a resolution naming the courtyard area for Mrs. Nina and Mr. George Winkel. The measure was adopted as a means to pay tribute to "two gracious and generous friends" whose contributions of Mrs. Winkel's sculpture to the college's permanent art collection "have immeasurably enriched and enhanced the (institution's) cultural atmosphere."

The Winkel collection at Plattsburgh presently consists of more than 30 of the artist's works. In addition to donating the sculpture to the college, the Winkels have contributed more than $30,000 to the College Foundation.

The Winkel Sculpture Court will be co-circular in design, and will be appropriate for the exhibit for works of art complementary to the Winkel collection. The space will provide a quiet, open atmosphere which will be appropriate also for "contemplative thought, college-wide receptions and intimate and poetic presentations." The target date for its completion is next fall.

the only NCAA Division III opponent on the Russians' schedule. The remainder, arranged under AHAUS jurisdiction, is made up of professional teams from the American Hockey League and the American Hockey Association, NCAA Division I teams representing the University of Maine at Orono and Lowell University, and the United States' Select Team.

Dr. Eldridge W. Roark, vice president for student affairs at Plattsburgh, said that the contract with AHAUS calls for the college to make a financial commitment of $9,500, plus operating expenses, to guarantee the game. It is expected that the sale of tickets, which will begin early next month, will offset the cost of staging the contest. Ticket prices will be in the range of $8 for reserved seats and $5 for general admission, including standing room.

Roark pointed out that although the game is scheduled for the final day of the fall semester, when residence halls ordinarily close, students who live on campus and who have purchased tickets will be allowed to stay in their rooms until noon on Satur-

All Will Pay $4 Registration Fee Under New Parking Codes

The College Council, at its October meeting last Thursday, unanimously approved new parking regulations for the campus that includes a yearly registration fee of $4 for faculty, staff and students, to become effective with the beginning of the 1987-88 academic year.

The proposed regulations were presented to the Council by an ad hoc committee of faculty, staff and students, appointed by then Acting President Supple and chaired by Lawrence L. Lorch, director of the office of safety and security.

Under the new procedures, the fee will cover all vehicles registered to an individual. Ownership of vehicles will have to be proven on a one-time basis by producing a car registration, or, in the case of a new car owner, a certificate of purchase.

The regulations, to be phased in gradually, will also:

- Do away with the $2 fine for parking in a wrong lot and increase the fine to $5;
- Ban overnight parking in designated lots;
- Increase visitor parking at locations that regularly receive campus visitors;
- Tow cars after 10 violations;
- Provide additional parking for students on the rear roadway entrance to Memorial Hall;
- Copies of the recommendations of the parking committee can be obtained by contacting Mr. Lorch at the Office of Safety and Security.

Penney: 'I'm Excited About Being Part of This College'

Dr. Sherry Penney, vice president for academic programs, policy and planning in SUNY Central Administration, has arrived on campus to assume the post of acting president. "All the good things I've heard about Plattsburgh are being confirmed," she said Friday. "The people on the campus are dynamic, they care about what they're doing, and I'm very excited about being a part of the college."

Penney said that some of the projects she had been

Advertising in Field House to Support 'Pressing Needs'

(L-R) Field House Director Mark Christiansen, Assistant Hockey Coach Brian Riley and Georgia-Pacific Purchasing Manager Reginald Bulriss admire first of several signs to be completed in advertising campaign to generate revenue for Field House projects. Georgia-Pacific was the first firm to respond to offer to advertise in the Field House ice arena, and its sign now adorns the facility's score clock.

Visitors to the college's Field House this winter will note the addition of advertising to the facilities score clock, press box, ice resurfacer (Zamboni) and dasher boards.

Initiated last summer as a project by the Cardinal Booster Club, revenue from the advertising will be used over a period of time to meet "pressing needs for equipment and physical improvements" to the Field House ice arena that cannot be met from other sources. Specifically, funds are needed to replace the ice resurfacer that has been in service since the building opened in 1972; to purchase a new main scoreboard and an auxiliary score clock; and to undertake construction that will provide improved access to the ice sheet and greater comfort for spectators.

The cost of ads ranges from $500 to $1,000, depending on their location, and advertisers have an option to renew for two subsequent years. The college to date has received advertising commitments totaling $5,500 from eight local businesses.

Dr. Sherry Penney, shown here with College Council Chair Robert M. Garrow at last Thursday's Council meeting, has assumed the role officially as Plattsburgh State's acting president.

working on at SUNY Central were closely related to current campus issues, for example, the Value-Added Program. Penney is currently serving as chairman of the board of directors of the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems, which is conducting a major project in assessment programs. "I've had a long-time interest in this area," she said, "and now I'll be able to see both the potential and the problems from a campus viewpoint."

The new acting president is also interested in articulation agreements. "SUNY Central recently received a major grant from the Ford Foundation to work on that area," she explained. "Plattsburgh is a real leader in transfers and I believe some of the things happening here could be excellent examples for other campuses."

While Penney admitted she'll miss the classroom this year (she had been teaching a graduate seminar in 19th century American history at SUNY Albany), she is looking forward to her time in the president's office. "I would like to get to know the faculty and find out how I can be helpful to them," she said. "It feels really good to be back on a campus."

day, the 20th. The matter of the extra-day availability of food services on a cash basis is being pursued.

The Spartak schedule pits the Soviets against the AHL Adirondack Red Wings in Glens Falls on Wednesday, December 17. They are tentatively set to arrive in Plattsburgh during the afternoon on the following day, allowing more than a full day for practice and other activities. A campus planning committee is being formed to explore opportunities related to the latter as well as to matters of protocol.

Phi Eta Sigma Inducts 14

Phi Eta Sigma, the national scholarship honor society for freshmen, inducted 14 new members last Saturday in a ceremony held in the Angell Center Orchard Room. Membership in Phi Eta Sigma is offered to freshmen who have achieved a 3.5 grade point average in either of their first two semesters at Plattsburgh.

The newest inductees represent nine different majors, and their overall grade-point average collectively is 3.72. The new members and their hometowns:

SPORTS UPDATE

The Plattsburgh State women's soccer team rolled to a pair of impressive SUNYAC wins last week. Against Albany State, the Cardinals used a goal by Mary Jane Dillon in the waning seconds of the game to post a 2-1 win over the Great Danes. On Sunday, freshmen Julie Arbing scored one goal and assisted on another as Plattsburgh rolled over homestanding Oneonta State 3-0. The Cards travel to the University of Vermont this afternoon to battle the Catamounts. They will host another Division I team, Colgate at 1 p.m. on Saturday.

The women's cross country team continued to show improvement with an impressive sixth place showing at the highly competitive LeMoyne Invitational. Sophomore sensation Kathy Kane led the way with a 12th place finish while seniors Ellen Kissane and Cheryl Miner were 26th and 47th, respectively. The Cards, who competed without their numbers two and five runners, have the week off.

The men's team did not fare as well, placing 16th in a 19-team field. Sophomore Andy Hill was the top Plattsburgh performer with a time of 29:45.66 over the muddy course while teammate Kerry Meehan was two seconds behind.

The men's soccer team bounced back from a disappointing 1-0 loss to Potsdam State by thrashing New Paltz, 4-1. Plattsburgh got scores from Jon Archer, Jeff Esposito, Tom Millington and Bryan Darmody in dominating the Hawks. In the Potsdam contest, the Cards outshot the Bears 39-10, but were foiled by a late, second-half goal and excellent goalkeeping. Plattsburgh is one the road this Saturday to play traditional rival, Division II St. Michael's.

The women's tennis team dropped a close 6-3 decision to powerful St. Lawrence University. Lynn Becker scored a win for Plattsburgh at number one singles and Carolyn Cross was victorious in a three-set battle at number five singles. Becker and Cross also scored a three-set win at number one doubles.

WEEKLY NOTES

Dr. Donald Adams, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, presented a paper recently on the topic, "Biogeochemical cycling of organic carbon in the sediments of the Grote Rug Reservoir," at the Third International Workshop held in Utrecht, The Netherlands. The paper was co-authored by Dr. Bert Van Eck of Delta Hydraulics Laboratory in Middleburg, The Netherlands, and Dr. Naguib of the Max-Planck-Institute for Limnology, Ploen, West Germany ... Dr. James C. Dawson, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, was elected to the Board of Directors of the newly established New York Parks and Conservation Association at a recent meeting of the New York State Bar Association held in Albany. The association, which will establish an office in Albany with American Conservation Association grants totaling $150,000, will operate as a chapter of the National Parks and Conservation Association to advocate and support state and national park interests in New York State ... Dr. William D. Graziadei, professor of biology and coordinator of the In Vitro Cell Biology and Biotechnology program, has been elected chair of the Education Committee of the Tissue Culture Association for the period, 1986 to 1988. In summer, Graziadei presented a paper entitled "Negative Feedback Control of Interferon Synthesis" at the 37th annual meeting of the Tissue Culture Association held in Chicago. He reports that two graduate students and one undergraduate collaborated on the research ... Dr. Jean Ostasz, assistant professor in the Center for Human Resources, has published an article entitled "Techniques to Improve Food Intake of the Elderly," which appeared in the October issue of Geriatric Care ... Photographs by Roger Williams, professor of art in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre, will be on exhibit at the Rose Gallery in Austin, Texas through October ...

Record Attendance Expected at Homecoming

Based on preliminary registration figures, Homecoming '86 — scheduled for next weekend — will be the biggest ever in terms of alumni participation.

Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs, said that as of the end of the working day last Friday, more than 400 alumni had purchased tickets for Saturday evening's annual President's Reception and Dinner Dance program scheduled for the Angell Center Ballroom. Moreover, reservations for Sunday's 10 a.m. Plattsburgh State Sports Hall of Fame brunch and induction program — sponsored by the Cardinal Booster Club in cooperation with the Alumni Association and scheduled also for the Angell Center Ballroom — were running way ahead of last year's record figures. More than 250 are expected to attend the Hall of Fame event and salute the induction of former Plattsburgh State Athletic Director Dr. Ernest P. Rangazas and Cardinal basketball greats Tom Chapin '66, John Longware '56, Gail Dunn Rudloff '66 and James Sears '54.

"Our Saturday reunion luncheons for 'honored' classes, that is, for alumni who graduated in intervals of five years in class years ending in digits of one or six, are also projected to draw record numbers," commented Lavery. He pointed out, for example, that the Plattsburgh Normal School Golden Anniversary Class of 1936 will have 31 members in attendance for its reunion event at the Valcour Educational Conference Center. In addition, he said, 34 alumni from classes that graduated prior to 1936 will gather at Valcour, including a member of the Normal School Class of 1916."

Excellent reunion turnouts are expected in particular from the Silver Anniversary Class of 1961 and from the Class of '75, according to Lavery. Weekend activities for alumni get underway officially on Friday with a 7 to 9 p.m. buffet in the Angell Center Ballroom.

Meanwhile, Homecoming activities for students begin this evening at 8 with "21 Club Opening at The

Slatkin Gift of Sculpture Enhances Art Collection

Three nineteenth century French bronze sculptures, two by Renoir and one by Bonnard, have been donated to the college's permanent art collection by Renoir's "Fire" is one of three bronze sculptures recently donated to the college by Mrs. Regina Slatkin.

Mrs. Regina Slatkin. The two by Renoir are titled "Fire" and "Water" and are from a mythological series on the elements. "Surtout Le Table" by Bonnard was cast in an edition of seven for Ambrose Vollard and has been exhibited in the Museum of Modern Art.

"We're very grateful for Mrs. Slatkin's gift," commented gallery director Edward Brohel. "These bronzes add a special dimension to our continually growing permanent art collection."

The sculptures are currently on exhibit in the Kent Gallery. Mrs. Slatkin and her late husband, Charles E. Slatkin, formerly owned a gallery in New York City. Mrs. Slatkin has published articles on 18th and 19th century French art in "Burlington" magazine.

Canadian Corporation Pledges $12,000 to College Foundation

Imasco Limited, a major Canadian corporation, has pledged $12,000 to the college's Center for the Study of Canada through the Plattsburgh College Foundation over the next three years, according to Dr. Richard Beach, director of the Center. The first $4,000 installment on the pledge has been received. Beach commented, "This is not only a renewal of Imasco's previous involvement in our program, but also a substantial increase in funding."

The funds will be used for several Canadian Studies activities, primarily the Imasco scholarship program. Imasco's family of companies includes Imperial Tobacco Limited, Shoppers Drug Mart/Pharmaprix and the UCS Group.

Welcome Alumni, and a Special Salute to the Classes of '36, '61!

Controversial Topics Dot Women & Health Parley

Topics ranging from eating disorders and attitudes of women towards death, to sex discrimination against women doctors and the Dalkon Shield controversy, highlight an Upstate New York Women's History Conference on "Women and Health" to be held on campus on Friday and Saturday, October 24 and 25.

Sponsored by the SUNY-Plattsburgh Women's Studies program and its history department, the conference is open to the campus community and the community at-large. Registration — with the exception of Plattsburgh State students, who will be admitted free — is $2.50, and will be accepted at the door on either Friday or Saturday.

The program will get underway at 8 p.m. on Friday at the Newman Center on Broad Street with a presentation on the topic, "Beyond the Uterus: Rational Approaches to the History of Women's Health at Last" by Constance McGovern of the University of Vermont. It will continue on Saturday with two morning and two afternoon sessions in the Angell Center Ballroom and Cardinal Lounge, respectively.

At 9 a.m., Bonnie Morris of SUNY Binghamton will discuss "Anorexia Nervosa: Feminist Perspectives on History and Treatment." Drawing on the speaker's experiences in an eating disorders ward, the presentation will include a history of anorexia and an overview of comparative approaches to treatment. At 10:45 a.m., Union College's Linda Ford will describe the experiences of women doctor alumnae of Syracuse University in a talk entitled "Pioneers and Pariahs: Women Doctors of Syracuse, 1872-1902." She will demonstrate that those experiences reflect a pattern of sex discrimination marked by open hostility, followed by a "honeymoon" period and a subsequent backlash against "so-called feminization" of the profession.

The afternoon program in the Angell Center will begin at 12:30 with a presentation by Nancy Grey Osterud of Lewis and Clark College entitled "It's Little Enough I Know About the Facts of Life to This Day . . ." The lecture is based on a paper by Osterud which describes the childbirth and sexuality experiences of three dozen women who were born prior to World War II and raised in a rural community in south-central New York. At 1:45 p.m., Alfred University's Gail Walker will discuss "Women's Attitudes Towards Death Across the Life Span," in which she will suggest that "gender differences, environmental factors, generational differences and aging" are salient factors in the manner in which adults view death.

The final conference presentation, scheduled for 3 p.m., will focus on "The FDA & IUD's: What They Knew Before the Dalkon Shield." SUNY Binghamton's Nicole Grant will discuss the case of the Dalkon Shield as a "tragic illustration" of the complex social relationships which put women at risk in attempts to control their procreative power — risks, she maintains, that "derive, in part, from corporate misconduct." Grant's research is based on the Federal Drug Administration's 1968 investigation of intrauterine devices.

Further information about the conferences and registration procedures may be obtained from Dr. Anita Rapone, assistant professor of history, at 564-5221.

ACT Elects Byrne, Campbell to Its Board of Trustees

Byrne

Campbell

Two members of the Plattsburgh State College Council have been elected to the Board of Trustees of the Association of Council Members and College Trustees of the State University of New York (ACT).

The two are North Country businessman Wayne Byrne and James Campbell '75, legislative assistant to Assemblyman Alan Hevesi (D-Queens) and executive director of the New York Assembly Task Force on the Disabled. They were elected to the ACT board for terms through 1989 at the association's annual meeting recently in Saratoga Springs.

ACT is representative of the University's 29 state-operated campuses. Its board plans and conducts meetings and seminars on SUNY-wide issues, particularly those related to legislative matters, and strives to keep lines of communications open from campus to campus for the benefit of Council members.

Point" in the Angell Center, which features entertainment in addition to the service of food and non-alcoholic beverages. A fireworks extravaganza at 10 p.m. at Memorial Field, sponsored jointly by the Student Association, College Auxiliary Services and the Alumni Association highlights Friday's Homecoming events. The traditional parade, on the theme, "Candyland," will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday from the Plattsburgh Plaza parking lot on Cornelia Street. "Weekend Spectacular" will provide the music for the annual semi-formal dance, "A Night of Sweet Dreams," which begins at 10 p.m. at the Field House.

Levitin Wins Literature Prize; Book to Be Published in Spring

Dr. Alexis Levitin, associate professor of English, has won a $1,000 Betty Collady prize for his translation of Eugenio de Andrade's recent poetry collection Branco no Branco (White on White), which will be published next spring in the Quarterly Review of Literature's Contemporary Poetry Series. Poems drawn from the collection have already appeared in numerous literary magazines. The book will be Levitin's third book of translations.

Last June, Carmen Conde's Mujer Sin Eden (Woman Without Eden), which was co-translated by Levitin and Jose DeArmas of Denison University, was published by Ediciones Universal of Miami. His first book, Inhabited Heart: The Selected Poems of Eugenio de Andrade, was published in 1985.

Levitin has been a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh English department since 1981. His translations of contemporary Brazilian, Portuguese, and Spanish poetry and short fiction have appeared in 100 literary magazines and in numerous anthologies. His translation of short stories by Brazilian author Clarice Lispector recently won the Van DeBovenkamp-Armand C. Erpf Translation Award from the Columbia University Translation Center.

Poet-Teacher Sam Cornish Headlines 'Black Poetry Day'

Today is "Black Poetry Day" at Plattsburgh State, and the occasion will be highlighted by an appearance by poet-writer-teacher Sam Cornish, who will read from his own works at 7:30 p.m. in the Angell Center Ballroom. The event is open to all.

Described as "a genuine poet who writes about being black with authenticity and artistry," Cornish is the author of two major collections of poetry: Generations and Songs of Jubilee: New and Selected Poems. His visit to Plattsburgh for Black Poetry Day is being co-sponsored by the Clinton-Essex-Franklin Library System (with support from Poets & Writers, Inc.), the New York State Writer's Institute and the Plattsburgh State English Department's Visiting Poets and Writers Series.

In addition to his major collection, Cornish has published eight shorter works, children's books and chapbooks of poetry. In addition, he co-edited The Living Underground: An Anthology of Contemporary American Poetry and Chicory: Young Voices from the Black Ghetto. His children's book, Grandmother's Pictures, was nominated as an American Library Association Notable Book.

Beautification

Director of Facilities J. Derek Allan and Professor Emeritus of Education Florence C. Callahan frame one of four locust trees Callahan has donated to the college in support of its campus beautification program. The trees were planted recently in the vicinity of Broad Street and Draper Avenue, west of Beaumont Hall (background).

Although the tree between the two resembles a mere twig, Allan, who chairs the campus Beautification Committee, described the locust as a "hardy urban tree" capable of withstanding the effects of urban pollution. He said the locusts will grow to a substantial height when they mature in about 15 years. He commented that Callahan, formerly a member of his committee, has been widely supportive of campus beautification efforts. The donor had been a member of the teacher education faculty at Plattsburgh State from 1951 until her retirement in the summer of 1986. She resides at 17 Dennis Avenue.

New Gallery Exhibits Feature Tapestries and Student Works

Several new exhibits have opened in the campus art galleries, according to gallery director Edward Brohel. A collection of Modern Master Tapestries from the Charles E. Slatkin Collection are on exhibit in the Myers Fine Arts Gallery. The collection, Brohel said, represents the great movements and many great names in contemporary art and design.

Fourteen sculptures by carver Cleo Hartwig are on display in the Kent Gallery. Hartwig's work has been shown and won awards at the Metropolitan and Philadelphia Museums of Art, the Detroit Institute of Art, and the National Academy of Design.

Students Michael Sweeney and Drew Martin are exhibiting their works in a "Text and Context" exhibit in the Myers Fine Arts Lobby. The show, sponsored by faculty members William Crosby and Don Osborne, contains seven works by Sweeney and approximately 20 photographs by Martin.

Education Expert Zelda Gamson to be Visiting Professor Here

Dr. Zelda Gamson, a Fellow at the John W. McCormick Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Massachusetts-Boston, will be on campus all next week as a Distinguished Visiting Professor.

Recognized nationally as an expert on higher education in America, particularly at the undergraduate level on issues related to student learning and development and the relationships between the liberal arts and work, Gamson will give several presentations on topics of interest to the campus community. On Monday at 3:15 p.m., she will lecture on "Active Learning and Student Involvement" in the Angell Center Conference Room. The following day she will discuss "Perspectives on Higher Education" at a 4:15 p.m. Tuesday Reflections program scheduled for the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge. "Enhancing the Freshman Experience" is the subject of a Gamson lecture set for 3 p.m. Wednesday, also in the Cardinal Lounge, and on Thursday at 3:15 p.m. she will conduct a workshop on "Faculty-Student Dialogue: Collaboration in the Classroom" to be held in the Angell Center Orchard Room.

Prior to her current post, Gamson was a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, where she continues as faculty associate in that institution's Center for the Study of Higher and Postsecondary Education. She has been a visiting scholar at both Plattsburgh State played host to Distinguished Visiting Professor Zelda Gamson, shown here with Professor Emeritus of Psychology Dr. Edward E. "Doc" Redcay, during last spring's "Town Meeting" program.

Stanford University and the University of California at Berkeley. Her most recent book, Liberating Education, has been widely acclaimed.

Gamson's visit is being coordinated by Dr. Thomas Moran, assistant vice president for academic affairs.

NTE Results: Education Majors Among the Best

Plattsburgh State's Center for Teacher Education and Educational Service is doing a commendable job in preparing its majors for the teaching profession.

That judgment can be rendered on the basis of the results of the latest National Teacher Examination core battery tests administered to SUNY students. The combined results of tests administered to teacher education majors in October of 1985 and again last June indicate clearly that Plattsburgh's students are tops among SUNY's colleges and close to the top when compared to their counterparts at the University centers.

In the test of "communication skills," 93 percent of the 187 Plattsburgh students who took the examination passed it. The passing rate at University centers on this test component was 96%; at university colleges it was 88% and at all SUNY campuses it was 89%. In "general knowledge," 90.1% of the 191 Plattsburgh students tested in this area posted passing scores, while the rate reported for the University centers, SUNY colleges and all campuses was 95%, 83% and 84%, respectively.

Plattsburgh teacher education students led the field in SUNY in the "professional knowledge" category as 95.6% of those tested passed the exam. The passing rate at the University centers was 95%, and the rate for students attending sister colleges and those enrolled in SUNY as a whole was at 93%.

The comparison of results for the period 1984-86 is even more favorable for Plattsburgh. It shows that the passing rate for Plattsburgh teacher education majors on the communication skills test has been 94.7% where state-wide it has been 84%; that in general knowledge Plattsburgh students have achieved a passing rate of 93.3% against a rate state-wide of 81%; and that in professional knowledge the passing rate for Plattsburgh students has been 96.6% in comparison with 89% among students majoring in education in all SUNY institutions.

"We are pleased, naturally, with the latest set of figures," commented Dr. Michael Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services. "The results attest to the quality of both our faculty and our programs and provide us with an irrefutable argument in our attempts to attract new students to campus.

"I am happy also for our current undergraduates, whose job prospects will be enhanced by their performance on the national teacher examination, and for the youngsters in the schools where our graduates do and will teach."

Changes in Federal Aid Programs to Affect Many

Provisions of the recently passed Higher Education Amendments of 1986 will enable eligible students to borrow additional funds to meet college costs, but at the same time they will reduce the total number of loan-eligible students and the amounts for which they qualify.

According to Suzanne Sokolowski, the college's director of financial aid, these developments constitute the most important of several changes in federal aid programs that will become effective in the New Year.

"As of January 1," said Sokolowski, "undergraduates can borrow $2,625 for each of the first two years and $4,000 for each of three additional years through the Guaranteed Student Bank Loan. Total undergraduate borrowing could amount to a maximum of $17,250. Meanwhile, graduate students will be able to borrow $7,500 annually for a maximum of five years.

"However," she continued, "the number of students eligible for the Guaranteed Student Bank Loan will be reduced after January 1, because need for the loan will be calculated for all students using a form of needs analysis which yields higher family contribution figures at all income levels. The mandated needs analysis system — the Financial Aid Form, for example — takes into account untaxed income as well as family assets in determining need."

Sokolowski pointed out that students under the age of 24 will be required to meet more rigorous standards to qualify for aid as independent students, also effective January 1. Under the revised regulations, all students 24 and older will be automatically considered independent. However, students under 24 will be considered dependent unless they are orphans, wards of the court, veterans, graduate students not claimed as dependents on anyone else's tax returns, married and not claimed as dependents on anyone else's tax return, unmarried but have legal dependents, or are not claimed on anyone else's tax return (specifically parents') for two years (1985 and 1986 for 1987-88) and can prove that they earned at least $4,000 in both 1985 and 1986.

A new five-year limit on Pell Grant eligibility will be imposed for students who receive their first Pell Grant after July 1 of next year. "Students who will elect to earn credit for a double major, or who will change their major several times, will have to pay particular attention to the five-year limit," said Sokolowski.

Finally, she said, the Amendments will tighten requirements for recipients who receive federal student aid for the first time after July 1. They will have to maintain a C average or maintain grades consistent with their colleges' graduation requirements to receive aid after their sophomore year. She stated that legal interpretations of these guidelines have yet to be determined.

Auditory Research Laboratory Will be Dedicated on Friday

A dedication ceremony and open house for the college's Auditory Research Laboratories will be held on Friday afternoon. The research laboratories, which were renovated and upgraded with support from the SUNY Research Foundation and SUNY Central, are located on the first floor of Beaumont Hall. The brief dedication ceremony will be held at 3 p.m. in the Beaumont Commons area, with remarks by Acting President Sherry Penny and James Kalas, assistant vice president for planning and development of the SUNY Research Foundation. Dr. Roger Hamernik, who is in charge of the laboratories, will discuss his research. The ceremony will be followed by an open house in the laboratories and a reception in the Commons area.

The Auditory Research Laboratories were developed for Hamernik's research projects. Since arriving on campus last winter, he has secured $1.7 million in external funding for auditory research. Hamernik holds a joint appointment in the physics and the hearing and speech science departments.

Homecoming

Thirty-seven members of the Golden Anniversary Class of 1936 returned to Plattsburgh to participate in Homecoming festivities last weekend, including their reunion luncheon at the Valcour Educational Conference Center. Homecoming '86 was termed a "tremendous success" by Alumni Affairs Director Malcolm Lavery, who reported record attendance at virtually every function but especially at Saturday evening's President's Reception and Dinner Dance, which attracted approximately 500, and Sunday's Sports Hall of Fame Brunch and Induction Program, which drew about half that number.

Canadian Government Official Presents $10M to Foundation

Noting "the fundamental friendship and partnership between the United States and Canada" and marking the celebration of the 20th anniversary of the SUNY Plattsburgh Canadian Studies Program, Canadian Consul General Robert Johnstone presented a check for $10,000 to College Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman last Thursday to create a Canadian Studies Endowment Fund. "I've enjoyed enormously my association with Plattsburgh," Johnstone said, "and have benefited greatly from it. I am very pleased to present some concrete tokens of our admiration for the Center for the Study of Canada."

Johnstone presented the check following his lecture on "U.S.-Canada Relations," in which he cited the many changes that have taken place in both countries in recent years. Despite problems which arise from time to time, Johnstone said, "We are partners in a

Psychology Professor Jahoda Here as Distinguished Professor

Dr. Gustav Jahoda, professor of psychology at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow, Scotland, who is well known for his work in cross-cultural psychology, will begin a term in residence at the college this week as a Distinguished Visiting Professor.

Jahoda, who has taught at the Universities of Manchester, Glasgow and Ghana in addition to Strathclyde, will conduct a seminar on the topic, "Does the Human Mind Work the Same in All Cultures?" during his stay at Plattsburgh. Students may enroll in the seminar for one hour of course credit, and those wishing to do so should contact Dr. Roy Malpass, professor of behavioral science (Redcay 215, ext. 2047).

A past president of the International Association for Cross-Cultural Psychology, Jahoda has published extensively on the impact of cultural change on various aspects of personality and social behavior. Much of this work focuses on topics of human intellectual and social development. Children's ideas in relation to their country, nationality and ethnic identity is one topic of long-standing interest to Jahoda; others include the development of economic concepts and cognitive and perceptual development. Nearly all of his work has been in the context of similarities and differences observable in behavior and development in different cultures.

Jahoda's scholarly interests also include the Psychology of Superstition. He published a book by that title in 1969, and he will lecture on that topic at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in room 106 in Hudson Hall. His most recent book, Psychology & Anthropology, reflects on the perspectives those disciplines bring to "the common task of understanding human experience and behavior in all of its rich pan-cultural variety."

Canadian Consul General Robert Johnstone presents a $10,000 check to Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman.

great many ways." He concluded by calling for each country to work toward a broader understanding and awareness of what the other is all about.

The two-day anniversary celebration included several seminars, information tables, a film festival and a gala dinner with numerous guests from across the United States and Canada.

Steering Committee Established to Plan Cards vs. Spartak Game

A 20-member Steering Committee convened last Friday afternoon to plan and carry out activities surrounding the December 19, exhibition hockey game between Plattsburgh State's Cardinals and the Soviet Union's Moscow-based Spartak team. The committee is being co-chaired by Peter Luguri, assistant to the vice president for student affairs, and Mark Christiansen, director of the College Field House. It is composed of representatives from the Department of Physical Education and Recreational Sports (including the hockey coaching staff), the Division of Student Affairs, the Student Association, the President's Office, College Auxiliary Services, faculty and professional staff, and, via the Cardinal Booster Club, the community at-large.

Women's Studies Forum Features County Social Services Chief

"Welfare Lady Doesn't Have to be a Four-Letter Word" is the topic of a Women's Studies Forum presentation featuring Clinton County Social Services Commissioner Rose Pandozy scheduled for 11:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Cardinal Lounge of the Angell College Center. The program is open to all.

Pandozy's talk will focus on issues related to women and social services, both as clients and administrators.

2-Day SUNY Honors Conference to Convene Here on Friday

The honors movement in the State University system will be highlighted this weekend as honor students and faculty gather here to discuss "Collaborative Learning in the Honors Context." The two-day conference, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, was organized to bring together program directors, faculty of SUNY Honors Programs and honor students, to foster the development of a SUNY honors network, and to identify common problems in establishing and sustaining honors programs in the university system. According to Dr. David Mowry, coordinator of the SUNY Plattsburgh Honors Program, participants from 10 SUNY campuses are expected to participate.

The conference will begin at 5 p.m. on Friday, with a general session entitled "The Successful Honors Seminar," led by Dr. Zelda Gamson, Distinguished Visiting Professor here. Gamson will also deliver the keynote address following the conference dinner that evening.

On Saturday morning, directors and faculty members will hear a discussion of "Honors in SUNY" by J. Norman Hostetter, associate vice chancellor for educational services; Kenneth Hall, assistant vice chancellor for academic programs; and Katharin Reihl, director of School/College Relations. Students will discuss "The Honors Experience from Students' Perspectives."

Later in the morning, directors and faculty will consider "Models of Collaborative Learning," while students will hear a lecture by Dr. Mark Cohen on "Debunking Civilization: Civilization and Health."

Jane Altes, associate vice chancellor for academic programs, will provide a "SUNY Update" at the luncheon session, and the seminar will conclude with a plenary session.

More information and registration materials are available from the Center for Lifelong Learning in Hawkins Hall.

SPORTS UPDATE

Kathy Kane ran to a third place finish on Saturday, leading the women's cross country team to a fourth place finish at the SUNYAC championships. The talented sophomore turned in a time of 18:11.8, just nine seconds behind the winner. Teammates Ellen Kissane and Cheryl Miner both finished in the top 25 for Plattsburgh. The men's squad ended up ninth out of 12 teams at the same meet. Senior Glenn Dow paced the Cardinal harriers with a 37th place effort.

Kathy Kane

Joanne Johnson's women's volleyball squad qualified for the SUNYAC championship by finishing second in the SUNYAC East. On Saturday, Plattsburgh won two out of three matches in New Paltz to finish 4-2 in conference play. The Cardinals defeated Potsdam State 15-3, 7-15, 15-3 and the hosts 15-7, 15-3 before losing to nationally ranked Albany State 15-7, 15-12. The Cards host their annual invitational tournaments this Saturday. The meet gets underway at 10 a.m.

The men's soccer team was stunned by Union College, 8-0, on Saturday. On Friday, Plattsburgh blanked St. Rose 4-0 as Fernando Gualtieri and John Pagano each tallied a goal and an assist. The 7-9-1 Cardinals conclude their season today at Clarkson.

The women's soccer team lost a pair of contests last week to fall to 6-6 on the season. On Saturday, the Cards dropped an important match to SUNYAC foe Binghamton State, 1-0. The Cards outshot the Colonials 17-3, but were victimized by a second half breakaway goal. Earlier in the week Plattsburgh lost to St. Michael's 3-2. Serge von Duvillard's squad will try to get back on the winning track today against Middlebury. The game is slated for 3 p.m. at the Field House.

NOTES

The Advisement and Course Selection Period for the spring semester will begin Monday, October 27, and continue until Tuesday, November 11. Students should schedule early appointments with their advisors and should do some planning (review the Master Schedule) prior to arranging a meeting. Those students with a G.P.A. of less than 2.0 should ask their advisors about the academic probation guidelines.

Questions concerning advisement, or academic policies and procedures, should be directed to Suzanne Daley, assistant to the vice president for academic affairs, Kehoe 314, (2080).

The Office of Campus Life will sponsor a bus to Montreal on Saturday, November 1, leaving campus at 9 a.m. and departing Montreal at 6 p.m. Tickets are $9.00 round trip for students, faculty and public. Tickets are on sale at the Angell Center Desk starting Monday, October 27. For more information, call 564-3824.

Sea Lampreys Focus of Bogucki-Gruendling Study

Control of sea lampreys in Lake Champlain is an issue of major importance to regional residents, and two SUNY Plattsburgh professors are deeply involved in the project.

Bogucki

Gruendling

Drs. Donald Bogucki and Gerhard Gruendling, professors in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, are conducting research into the potential impact of lampricides on flora and fauna in Lake Champlain wetlands. They are also monitoring the flow conditions and discharge rates of several Lake Champlain tributaries in order to determine the best time to apply lampricides.

Their research in the sea lamprey control area is currently funded by three grants administered through the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation, which amount to approximately $53,000. The results of their research will become part of an environmental impact statement which must be prepared and approved prior to any lampricide application. That statement will be discussed in public hearings within the next year.

Bogucki and Gruendling are also presently involved in several other research projects. A contract in the amount of $12,500 with the Lockheed Engineering and Management Services Company calls for them to verify interpretations of aerial photographs of fifteen watersheds done by that corporation in the Adirondacks for the Environmental Protection Agency. The verification will be accomplished through their own photographic interpretations as well as through on-site field checks. Under the same grant, Bogucki and Gruendling will train photo interpretation personnel in wetland identification and in beaver activity recognition.

Bogucki and Gruendling are also continuing a long-term project of mapping wetlands in the Adirondack Park, under a grant from the Adirondack Park Agency. Total funding for that project since 1982 has amounted to about $88,000. Finally, the pair is concluding a lengthy study of the depth of bedrock as it relates to the impact of acid rain in numerous watersheds in the Northeast, which has been funded by the Environmental Protection Agency in the amount of approximately $230,000.

Co-Op Education Program Gets $19,760 in Supplemental Funds

The college's Cooperative Education (Co-Op) program has received $19,760 in supplemental funding from the U.S. Department of Education to support special programs and workshops and to develop promotional materials. The grant augments $65,000 provided by the Department of Education for 1986-87 — the fifth year of Co-Op funding for the Plattsburgh State campus.

Dr. Ann C. Hasting, who directs the program, said the new funds will be used to develop a research manual that will help students obtain information on companies and agencies that offer Co-Op placements. The Co-Op staff also plans to produce a video tape that will take students through the placement interview process with employers.

Additionally, the supplemental funds will be used to support two workshops designed to enhance the placement prospects of liberal arts majors, and to conduct a survey of alumni who participated in the Co-Op program as undergraduates to determine the impact of placement experiences on their permanent employment status.

Hasting said that the Co-Op staff hopes to develop a newsletter promoting the program for distribution to new students during summer orientation. A workshop or conference for high school counselors is in the preliminary planning stage.

Approximately 50 Plattsburgh undergraduates in a diversity of major fields are currently in cooperative education positions.

1986 Annual Giving Campaign Now at 65% of $285,000 Goal

The 1986 Annual Giving Campaign had received gifts amounting to $185,087.75, as of October 24, according to Harry Mowry, chairman of this year's fund drive. "We're doing quite well, compared to last year at this time," Mowry said, "and we have received quite a few pledges, but we still have a way to go to meet our 1986 goal of $285,000."

As of October 24, the Friends and Organizations categories were leading the way, with both areas over their $30,000 and $15,000 goals, respectively.

The Alumni Fund had brought in about $53,000 of its $100,000 goal, and pledges received through the phonathon were nearing the $30,000 mark. The Booster Club Fund Drive, which kicked off just three

11 Undergrads, Grad Students Receive 'Challenger' Awards

Five undergraduates and six graduate students currently pursuing degrees here have been identified as recipients of New York State Regents' Empire State Challenger Scholarships and Fellowships for Teachers for 1986-87. "Challenger" has been added this year to distinguish the name of the program to honor the astronauts who died in the space shuttle by that name earlier in 1986.

Scholarships for the current year were awarded state-wide to 312 undergraduates. Plattsburgh's five recipients, who each receive up to $3,000 per year for payment of tuition and fees for up to four years of full-time study, and their hometowns, are: Steven H. Fenton of Phoenix, Gisele M. Gaudreau of Plattsburgh, Kathleen M. Ryan of Buffalo, Susan M. Schiesser of Fishkill, and Brian Tingley of Banks, all on campus. To accept the awards, the five had to agree to teach the equivalent of one academic year for every two years of awards received.

The Regents awarded graduate fellowships to 650 students for the current academic year. Plattsburgh's recipients and their hometowns: Veronica S. Cunningham of West Chazy, Kym C. Duffina of Plattsburgh, Alice Farrell of Warrensburg, Janice B. Padula of Morrisville, James L. Ulrich Jr., of Old Forge, and Anne L. VanAcker of Troy.

The awards to graduate students may be used to cover the cost of books, transportation and room and board as well as tuition and fees. The majority provide up to $4,000 for one year of full-time study, and they are awarded to teachers whose positions have been abolished because of declining enrollments or to those who have a bachelor's degree in an acceptable subject area but do not meet other academic requirements for certification. The remainder provide up to $1,000 per year for two years of part-time study. Recipients in either case must agree to agree to teach for the equivalent of one academic year.

weeks earlier, had already raised more than $12,400 (83%) of its $15,000 goal.

The Business/Corporate Campaign had received $66,500 in contributions, against a goal of $85,000, while the Faculty/Staff Drive had reached approximately $15,000 of its $25,000 target, with gifts and pledges.

A new category, a Parents' Fund Drive, was slated to kick off October 27, with a $5,000 target, according to Mowry.

BPW 'Woman of the Year' Award Cites Business School's Church

Nancy Church, instructor in the School of Business and Economics, has been selected as the "Woman of the Year" for 1987 by the Champlain Valley Business and Professional Women's (BPW) Club. The award was conferred last week during a dinner meeting of that organization held at an area restaurant.

Candidates for the honor are judged on the basis of contributions to their fields and to the community, and involvement in professional organizations, among other criteria. Church, who teaches marketing, management and accounting courses here and directs the School's internship program, is the author of numerous articles that have appeared in professional journals in addition to three books. Her latest book, Marketing for Non-Profit Cultural Organizations is scheduled for publication later this year. She has conducted market research and developed advertising campaigns for several regional not-for-profit organizations, including WCFE-TV, Channel 57 (PBS), Stop Domestic Violence and the United Way of Clinton County. She holds professional memberships in the American Marketing Association and the Academy of Marketing Science and Administrative Sciences Association of Canada.

Reception Set for New Faculty

New members of the faculty and professional staff will be guests of honor at a reception hosted by Omicron Delta Kappa at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 5 in the Angell Center Ballroom. Brief presentations will be given by Acting President Sherry Penney and representatives of a variety of campus organizations, including the Student Association, College Auxiliary Services, the Activities Coordination Board, and Phi Eta Sigma. New faculty and staff members will be introduced and the entire college community is invited to attend.

Women's Equal Rights Activist Sandler to Visit Here Monday

Dr. Bernice Sandler, director of the Project on the Status and Education of Women at the Association of American Colleges since its inception in 1971, will be a guest on campus on Monday, November 3. Various campus groups, including the College Council, the Presidential Search Committee, and the Sexual Harrassment Committee, as well as faculty, staff and students, have been invited to meet with Sandler during her stay on campus. She will deliver a public lecture entitled "These are Times That Try Men's Souls" at 7:30 pm in the Orchard Room. Complete schedule information is available from Dr. Anita Rapone (564-5221).

Sandler has been active for many years in working to achieve equity for women students, faculty and administrators. She was the first chairperson of the National Advisory Council on Women's Education Programs and served as a member of the council until

SPORTS REPORT

Joey Ferras scored one goal and three assists and defenseman Rick Stahl added four assists to lead the Cardinals to a 8-6 win over Ryerson Tech in Saturday's 1986-87 hockey opener at the Field House. Plattsburgh blew a two-goal lead in the third period and needed goals from Jean Simon Bibeau, Jeff Bunyon and Neil Mulcahy to ice the contest. The Cards play Queen's University tonight at the Field House and travel to Canton Saturday evening to face Division I St. Lawrence University.

Chris Waterbury's men's soccer team closed the 1986 season with a 0-0 overtime tie with Clarkson University. Plattsburgh finished its season with an overall record of 7-9-2. The Cardinals improved their goal production by scoring 32 times this season — 14 more than in 1985.

The women's soccer team snapped a four-game losing streak by defeating Middlebury 1-0. Freshman Julie Arbing tallied the contest's lone score with 10 minutes left in the first half. The 7-6 Cardinals concluded their season yesterday with a home match against Vermont rival Castleton State.

Sophomore Kathy Kane continued her impressive running by streaking to a fifth place finish at the New York State Cross Country Championships. Her time of 17:53.45 is a personal best and helped the Cardinals finish sixth at the meet. The men's team finished 11th out of 21 teams at the Albany Invitational on Saturday. The Cards were placed by senior Glenn Dow whose time of 27:07 was good enough for 29th place.

1982. She has won numerous awards for her work, including the Athena Award given by the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students.

Impact of Pesticides Topic of Penn State Sigma Xi Lecturer

Dr. E. Alan Cameron will deliver a lecture on "Environmental Impact Assessment for New Pesticides" at 7:45 p.m. on November 10 in Hudson 106. Cameron will discuss the relationships between environmental concerns and modern forest pest management goals and practices, using, as an example, a pesticide used to control the gypsy moth, a major forest defoliator.

Cameron is a professor of entomology at the Pennsylvania State University. He has written extensively on the environmental effects of chemical insecticides.

Cameron's lecture is co-sponsored by the campus chapters of Sigma Xi and the American Chemical Society.

Dr. James Kalas (r.), assistant vice president for planning and development of the SUNY Research Foundation, was on hand last Friday to participate in the dedication of the college's Auditory Research Laboratories, which are under the supervision of Dr. Roger Hamernik (l.). The laboratories were completed with the support of the Research Foundation.

The women's volleyball team concluded a fine week by winning two out of three games to finish second in their own invitational tournament behind Division I University of Vermont. The Cards lost to UVM but rebounded to beat St. Michael's and McGill. Earlier in the week Plattsburgh crushed Ski' more in a makeup match.

College 1st in Providing Private $ for Student Aid

A report released recently by State University's Office of Alumni Affairs and Development for 1984-85 indicates that Plattsburgh is the leader by far among SUNY's arts and science colleges in funds provided for student aid from dollars raised in the private sector.

The same report shows that Plattsburgh is a close second to the College at Purchase in net worth (total endowment) of College Foundations among the arts and science institutions in the University.

"We're aware that our campus leads the other colleges also in total dollars raised," commented Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, "but several are doing rather well in generating private support. What the SUNY report reflects, however, is the priority that Plattsburgh State — and its College Foundation — has assigned to providing scholarships and grants that help students begin or continue their studies here."

Garrant noted that while the report (see the chart, below) shows that Plattsburgh in 1984-85 allocated greater than $170,000 more than the next college in line, it does not indicate the full extent of the College Foundation's commitment to providing funds for financial aid. "During the current academic year, for example, our Foundation will turn over approximately $325,000 for allocation by the financial aid staff," he said. "That total represents an increase of nearly $80,000 in comparison with the amount cited in the report for which the latest figures are available."

The net worth of the Foundation in terms of endowment passed the $2 million mark during the past year. Besides Purchase and Plattsburgh, only three other SUNY colleges reported endowments surpassing $1 million.

Chemistry Department's Miller Gets Petroleum Research Grant

Dr. Edward J. Miller, assistant professor of chemistry, has received an $18,000 grant from the Petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society to fund research on "Semiconducting Polymers Containing Metallacyclic Rings."

Miller explained that he and several students are combining manganese with a form of plastic, then testing the resultant material for levels of electrical conductivity. The project is being done in hopes of finding a commercially useful material, as well as to advance scientific knowledge in the synthesis of metallated plastics.

Five students are currently working with Miller on the project. They include graduate student Michael Naughton and undergraduates Robert Heintz, Valerie Haskin, Tony Valicenti, and Michelle Bushey. All five are chemistry majors. The new grant will support two undergraduate and one graduate summer fellow for the next two years.

Supple: Graduate Initiative to Have University-wide Effect:

A new graduate and research initiative has been proposed by the State University of New York in an effort to improve the quality of research and graduate education within the SUNY system to a level comparable to the best public universities in the country.

The initiative sets four primary goals for the next decade. They include: creating multidisciplinary "Centers of Excellence" on the campuses of "doctoral units" capable of responding creatively to the needs of the state and its major regions; doubling the number of doctoral programs that can be ranked in the top 10% of the nation in their respective disciplines; doubling the real-dollar volume of externally sponsored research; and increasing substantially the enrollment of women and minorities in graduate and professional programs.

Dr. Jerome Supple, vice president for academic affairs, believes the proposal is both sound and realistic. "This new initiative, if approved by the governor and state legislature, will improve the prestige of State University and that can only help this campus," he said. "In addition, it would provide excellent opportunities for interaction among faculty members throughout the system."

While the major portion of the initiative is aimed at institutions in the system authorized to grant doctoral degrees, some portions would impact on the rest of the units. An "Inter-campus Affiliation Program" would make it possible for outstanding faculty from the arts and sciences campuses, community colleges and agricultural and technical colleges to participate actively in doctoral education at the University Centers and, in some instances, at their own campuses. Visiting professorships and visiting scholar programs would be set up and encouraged. An Inter-campus Graduate Program Affiliation program would allow outstanding faculty at state-operated and community colleges to be appointed formally to the faculty of a SUNY doctoral campus department. This program could be expected to help articulate

Six Chamber Ensembles Added

A growing interest in chamber music has prompted the Center for Art, Music and Theatre to add six new ensembles to its performance program.

The six new groups include a Flute Quartet, Clarinet Trio, Saxophone Ensemble, Percussion Ensemble, Brass Quintet, and Sinfonia (a string chamber ensemble). Each will feature student, faculty and guest musicians who will perform works representing a wide range of chamber music repertory. The six will debut in two performances scheduled for 8 p.m. on both November 11 and November 19 in Hartman Theatre. The performances are free and open to all.

masters' programs with doctoral programs.

Finally, a Research Incentive Program would provide research seed monies to faculty at the State-operated campuses to encourage both developing and established scholars on those campuses and to stimulate external funding for research.

Oswego, Merrimack and Babson Head Cardinal Classic Field

The ECAC Division III hockey season swings into high gear for the Plattsburgh State Cardinals this weekend when they entertain a premiere field in the third annual Pepsi Cardinal Hockey Classic scheduled for the college Field House ice arena.

The Classic, being billed in hockey circles as the best regular-season tournament in all of Division III for 1986-87, will get underway at 5 p.m. Friday with Babson College facing-off against Merrimack in a battle of evenly matched New England powers. The defending champion Cardinals will take on SUNYAC arch-rival Oswego State in the 8 p.m. nightcap. The winners of Friday's contests will vie for the championship at 8 p.m. on Saturday, while the losers will play a 5 p.m. consolation game.

Tickets for the Cardinal Classic each evening are $4.50 for general admission, $2.50 for students and $1.50 for Plattsburgh State students (with identification). Passes are suspended for the tournament. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Angell Center desk or on the day of the games at the Field House ticket windows.

Effects of Deregulation Topic of New York Telephone Officer

Dwight Kellogg, vice president for finance and comptroller of the New York Telephone Company, will visit the college on Wednesday, November 12, to speak on "The Effects of Deregulation on the Communications, Finance and Transportation Industries." The talk will be held at 4 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge of the Angell College Center.

Kellogg's appearance is being sponsored by the New York Telephone Company and the Northeastern New York Center for Economic Education. Dr. Michael Stoller, associate professor in the School of Business and Economics, said the speaker's topic should be of interest to both the general public and the campus community. He pointed out, however, that it should appeal especially to area high school social studies teachers and their students. A question and answer session and reception will follow the talk.

Phi Sigma Alpha Award Cites Konda for Paper on Political Parties

Dr. Tom Konda, assistant professor of political science, is the principal author of a work that has won the Phi Sigma Alpha award for a paper delivered at last year's annual meeting of the Southern Political Science Association.

Konda's paper, written in collaboration with Dr. Lee Sigelman, director of the political science program at the National Science Foundation, is entitled "Public Evaluation of the American Parties: 1952-1984." He was notified only recently that he is the recipient of the award, which will be conferred later this month at the Association's 1986 conference.

"There have been two contending schools of thought regarding how the public feels about the political parties," said Konda, in explaining the authors' thesis. "One is that the public has become alienated from the parties; the other is that the public has become apathetic. Our research has found relatively little merit in the first contention but has found a genuine trend toward apathy. However, the trend is not as dramatic as is often claimed and it ended by 1972. We have concluded that the parties are not in such bad shape. Predictions of the demise of the parties are not supported by our findings."

Fifteen Named to Campus-wide Spring Graduation Committee

Fifteen persons have been appointed by Acting President Sherry Penney to serve on the committee to plan this spring's commencement, which is scheduled for Sunday, May 3.

The committee, chaired by Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, is charged with making recommendations to Dr. Penney to insure an orderly and successful special event.

Named to the committee are: Dr. Nancy Church, assistant professor of business; Suzanne Daley, coordinator of academic advisement; Dr. Stuart Denenberg, associate professor of computer science; Peter Fauth, student; Beverly Forster, assistant to the president; Woody Freese and Linda Gastaldi, students; Scott Johnson, Angell College Center administrator.

Also, Kimberly Kenyon, student; Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs; Ann McLaughlin, student; Dr. Howard Miller, professor of English; Al Montanaro, associate professor and chair of the department of communication; Anna Nardelli, associate professor of education; and Dr. Lary Shaffer, associate professor of psychology.

The committee held its first meeting a week ago, but several sessions are scheduled prior to Commencement Day. Garrant urged all faculty, staff or students who have suggestions relative to commencement to contact him (2090) or other members of the committee.

Students, Faculty, Staff Have Early 'Spartak' Ticket Option

Faculty, staff and students will be allowed to purchase tickets to the hockey game between the Plattsburgh State Cardinals and the Soviet Union's Moscow-based Spartak team scheduled for December 19, at the Field House ice arena prior to the date they go on sale publicly.

A Steering Committee charged to plan the event recently endorsed a proposal that will allow members of the campus community to purchase up to five tickets each on Friday, November 14, from 8 a.m. to midnight, at the Angell Center desk. Ticket prices have been established at $8 for reserved seats and $5 for general admission, including standing room. Student identification and college identification for faculty and staff will be required. Tickets to the game will go on sale to the general public at 9 a.m. at the same location on Sunday, November 16.

Chancellor Appoints Ed Brohel to SUNY-wide Advisory Group

Edward Brohel, director of galleries, has been appointed by SUNY Chancellor Clifton R. Wharton, Jr. to a three-year term on the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Awards for Excellence in Professional Service. The committee develops criteria and guidelines for selection of nominees for those awards and to review and recommend to the chancellor those who should be granted the awards.

Brohel has been director of galleries at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1978 and is responsible for the college's extensive permanent art collection and for the many exhibitions held in the Myers Gallery and the Rockwell Kent Gallery. He is a 1986 recipient of the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Professional Service.

Cardinal Icers Split Pair; Kane Paces X-Country Triumph

Steve Hoar's ice Cardinals split a pair of contests last week, defeating Queen's University 7-4 at home and losing on the road to Division I power St. Lawrence, 9-6. Against St. Lawrence, Joey Ferras and Andre Giroux both scored twice while Neil Mulcahy and Jerry Dineen added a goal for the 2-1 Cards. Plattsburgh will host the Cardinal Classic this weekend.

Led by Kathy Kane's first place finish, the women's cross country team swept the first five places en route to an easy win at the Johnson State Invitational. The Cardinals scored 15 points to outdistance Johnson, Castleton State, New England College and the University of Maine-Presque Isle. Ellen Kissane, Julie Dobert, Cheryl Miner and Tina Nicholson captured second through fifth places for Plattsburgh.

Senior Glenn Dow finished 72nd at the New York State cross country championships on Saturday to lead the men's team to a 17th place effort. Dow covered the 10 kilometer course in 36:27.75.

Presidential Search Committee Convenes; 50 Apply

The Presidential Search Committee met for the first time last Wednesday, and established a timetable to conclude its charge to find a successor to Dr. Joseph C. Burke, whose appointment as SUNY provost last summer ended his 12-year tenure as the college's chief administrative officer.

The committee was informed that 50 applications for the position had been received to that date. However, the application process remains open, and faculty, staff and students are encouraged to nominate candidates for the position or to suggest names of individuals who should be invited to apply.

The search timetable calls for committee members to screen candidates during November and December. In January, the committee will convene to review and assess the files of active candidates and to compile a "select list" of finalists it determines to be worthy of serious consideration. The select list will be pared to 10 and then to a priority group of five finalists during February. On-campus interviews would be scheduled with the Search Committee, College Council and various advisory groups during March, and in April members of search subcommittees would conduct interviews at campuses where the final candidates are employed.

Prior to spring commencement, the Search Committee would recommend three candidates, with all relative documentation and without regard to rank, to the Council. If the Council deems one of the three to be acceptable, that body would then recommend that particular candidate to the University Chancellor and its Board of Trustees.

The Presidential Search Committee is composed of 18 persons representing all campus constituencies. Its chair is Robert M. Garrow, who chairs the College Council. The committee's next meeting is scheduled for December 4.

College Signs Articulation Pacts With 3 More 2-Year Colleges

SUNY Plattsburgh has signed three transfer articulation agreements with two-year SUNY colleges during the last month, according to Dr. Ingrun LaFleur, associate vice president for academic affairs. LaFleur said the latest agreements are with Dutchess Community College, Rockland County Community College and Ulster Community College.

"These articulation agreements," LaFleur said, "are a continuation of our efforts to encourage a solid number of quality students to transfer to SUNY Plattsburgh. This college has for some time been the leader in the SUNY system in transfers and we are committed to making the process as simple and efficient as we can."

In accordance with the agreements, holders of associate's degrees from those colleges who are admitted into a parallel program at SUNY Plattsburgh will be granted full junior standing and will be able to complete the requirements for a bachelor's degree in four semesters of full-time study. The two-year colleges and SUNY Plattsburgh work closely to provide information about programs on this campus to the advisors and students at the two-year colleges. Information is provided through college publications as well as frequent consultations and visits between campuses.

These three agreements bring the total of articulation agreements between SUNY Plattsburgh and SUNY two-year colleges to 17. Other community colleges which have agreements with SUNY Plattsburgh are Adirondack, Clinton, Columbia-Greene, Fulton-Montgomery, Herkimer County, Hudson Valley, Monroe, North Country, Onondaga, Schenectady County, and Suffolk County. Agreements have also been signed with the Agricultural and Technical Colleges at Canton, Cobleskill and Delhi.

90% of Nursing Grads Pass Licensing Test on 1st Try

Dr. Jeanette Coleman, director of nursing, reported recently that 90% of the college's 1986 nursing graduates who took the July licensing examination for registered nurses in New York State passed the test.

Information has not yet been released on the state-wide passing rate. However, Plattsburgh students have consistently performed well above the state average passing rate on the licensing examination.

Osborn's Sculpture, 'Thoughts on Pheidias,' Debuts on Campus

A new monumental sculpture has made its appearance on the SUNY Plattsburgh campus. "Thoughts on Pheidias," a work in steel and concrete by faculty member Don Osborn, has been nearly completed. The sculpture is located on the lawn between the Kehoe Building and Broad Street.

Pheidias, explained Osborn, was the first great western sculptor and directed the sculpture program of the Parthenon in the fifth century B.C. "The sculpture," Osborn said, "implies a personalized mythological reference, which is represented through improvised parallels and restraints which may have been the consideration of the primary sculpture of Pheidias in the overall scheme for pediment sculpture of the Parthenon."

The work was commissioned by the Campus Beautification Committee, approved by the executive staff, endorsed by the faculty of the Center for Art,

PEARS Department's Lennon Picked for OER/CSEA Award

Betty Lennon, senior stenographer in the department of physical education and recreational sports, has been selected to be among the first to receive a Labor/Management Achievement Award from the New York State Office of Employee Relations (OER) and the Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA).

Lennon, a member of the college's staff for the past 21 years and president of its CSEA chapter since 1971, was scheduled to receive the award today during a luncheon ceremony at the Empire State Plaza in Albany.

The awards program was instituted this year by the OER/CSEA Joint Labor-Management Committee on The Work Environment and Productivity. Its purpose is to formally acknowledge the efforts of individual CSEA and management employees "who have helped promote positive labor/management relations within facilities, campuses, regional offices and at the state agency level." Lennon was selected by the committee following a review of materials supporting her nomination submitted by the college's Office of Personnel and Affirmative Action, her CSEA field representative, a SUNY Central Administration labor/management committee and the OER/CSEA Ad Hoc Training Committee for Region IV.

Chorale to Sing at St. John's

The 100-voice student College Chorale, under the direction of Richard Zielinski, will sing Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" and Antonio Vivaldi's "Magnificat" at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday at St. John's Church in Plattsburgh. The Chorale will be accompanied by Ella Clark, organist, and members of the College Sinfonia, conducted by Evelyn Read.

The concert is free and open to all.

Music and Theatre, and supported by the Student Association through the Campus Arts Council, Campus Auxiliary Services and Art Resources.

Ed Brohel, director of campus galleries, was coordinator for the project. Brohel said, "This has been a wonderful example of college and community cooperation. Services and materials were donated by Plattsburgh Quarries, Platco Steel, Murnane Associates, and Jeffords Steel and Engineering, and we are very grateful for their help."

Brohel also commended the maintenance and operations staff at the college, and particularly J. Derek Allan, director of facilities, maintenance and operations, for their assistance. "Without Derek Allan," Brohel said, "the project would never have been possible."

The sculpture will soon be painted a rust red, Brohel said. It is the second large scale outdoor sculpture to be completed at SUNY Plattsburgh (the first being Bill King's "Amite" which is located between the Myers Fine Arts Building and the Angell College Center) and is part of the ongoing efforts toward campus beautification.

College Approved as 1st in SUNY to Offer B.A. in Microbiology

The strength of the college's concentration in microbiology has led to approval and implementation of a bachelor of science degree program in that discipline.

With SUNY and State Education Department approval granted this fall, Plattsburgh has become the only college in the University system — and one of a few in all of New York State — to offer a degree program in microbiology. Faculty in the department of biological sciences maintain that, unlike medical microbiology or similar specific programs found at other institutions, the major at Plattsburgh is not specialized.

Dr. Ralph Clark, professor of biology and one of the architects of the new program, said that students in the major here will gain a broad background in chemistry, biology and microbiology, plus they will complete upper-level courses in microbial physiology, medical microbiology, food microbiology and industrial microbiology. Additionally, they will be able to explore techniques in genetic engineering and tissue and cell culture technology through elective coursework.

Clark said that the value of the program for students will be manifest in their preparation for immediate employment in industrial or research laboratories and with the U.S. Public Health Service. After one year of employment, and after they have passed a qualifying examination, graduates of the Plattsburgh program will be entitled by the American Society for Microbiology to be recognized as Registered Microbiologists. Clark added that the program will provide excellent preparation for students who wish to pursue graduate study in microbial ecology, toxicology, medical or clinical microbiology, microbial genetics, industrial microbiology, public health, nutrition, and related fields.

Gift for City Hall Project

L-R — City of Plattsburgh Mayor Carlton E. Rennell accepts check for $1,000 from Edward Engelbride, director of campus/community activities at Plattsburgh State, and Student Association President Perry Cuocci as a contribution toward the Plattsburgh City Hall mural project (background). The contribution was made in behalf of the college's student body with funds raised through student activities sponsored jointly by the S.A. and the Office of Campus Life.

Claude Clark Dies at 72; Served Council from 1964-80

Claude J. Clark, long-time member of the Plattsburgh College Council, died Saturday, November 8, in Malone, NY at the age of 72. Clark, a Malone attorney, was originally appointed to the Council in May of 1964 to complete an unexpired term. He was reappointed for a full nine-year term in 1971 and retired from the Council in 1980.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Malone.

Foundation Board Okays By-Law Revision Changing Composition

The Board of Directors of the Plattsburgh College Foundation, at its quarterly meeting last Wednesday, unanimously approved an amendment to the organization's By-laws that enlarges the composition of the board from 15 to 18 members.

Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman explained that the amendment was proposed to increase community representation on the board. Prior to the vote, nine of the 15-person board were members of the community at-large. Their number will be increased to 12 effective February 11, 1987 — the date of the Foundation's annual meeting.

In other business, the board heard third quarter reports of standing committees on annual giving, investments and endowment, and received a report from Executive Director Don Garrant outlining Plattsburgh's high standing among SUNY's arts and science colleges in terms of net worth of endowments, allocation of funds for student aid and success generally in generating private gifts.

SEFA Drive in Final Stages; No Report from Some Sectors

With $14,500 in contributions and pledges already in the coffer, the campus drive in support of the 1987 State Employees Federated Appeal (SEFA) is making an eleventh hour push toward a successful conclusion.

Campaign coordinator Thomas Moran, assistant vice president for academic affairs, reported that he is hopeful of wrapping up the campaign before the beginning of the Thanksgiving break. He said that many departments had responded by returning contributions and the SEFA payroll deduction forms, but that several others have not been heard from. "This may indicate we have encountered a problem in the distribution of campaign forms and literature to employees in some sectors of the campus," commented Moran. "If this has happened, I'd appreciate a call (ext. 2080) so we can provide the opportunity for each employee to participate." Moran reminded his faculty and staff colleagues that SEFA represents a means whereby their contributions may be put to use to help their North Country neighbors.

SEFA encompasses the United Way of Clinton

County and its 20 human service agencies, the four agencies affiliated with the Clinton County Health Council, six health Agencies of New York, and 16 International Service Agencies.

Cardinals 2nd in Pepsi Classic

Merrimack College defeated the Plattsburgh State hockey team, 6-3, in the championship game of the Cardinal Pepsi Classic on Saturday. The Cardinals reached the final by defeating rival Oswego State 6-5 in Friday's contest. Neil Mulcahy, Tony Martino and Chris Panek were named to the all-tourney team. This week the 3-2 icers are in Alaska for two-game sets with Alaska-Fairbanks and Alaska-Anchorage.

Brett Hull's men's and women's cross country teams travel to Fredonia this weekend for the NCAA regional qualifying race.

The men's and women's swimming teams competed at the Boston College Relays and came in fifth out of seven teams.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Diana M. Akey, telecommunications manager, made a presentation and participated in a panel discussion on the topic of student telephone resale at the fall conference of the SUNY Computer Officers Association/Telecommunications Officers Association held recently in Buffalo ... Francis Barber, labor supervisor for the maintenance and operations division, recently received an award from the Plattsburgh College Foundation in recognition of his "outstanding service" in meeting the needs of that organization over the past several years ... Drs. Donald J. Bogucki and Gerhard K. Gruending, professors in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, presented a paper entitled "Photointerpretation of Historical (1948-85) Beaver Activity in the Adirondacks" at the 1986 American Society of Photogrammetry and Remote Sensing Technical Conference held recently in Anchorage, Alaska. The paper was co-authored by Dr. Kenneth Adams, assistant professor of environmental Science, Eileen Allen, technical assistant in the college's Remote Sensing Laboratory, and Marguerite Remillard of the Institute of Ecology at the University of Georgia ... Dr. Mark Cohen, professor of anthropology, has been especially active through the fall semester. Early in the term, he spoke about changes in health associated with the Neolithic revolution at the University of Michigan. Later, he delivered two lectures at the University of Indiana — one to the institution's history department on "Civilization and Health" and the other to its anthropology department on "Changes in the Growth Rate of the Human Population." This past week he was the invited plenary speaker at a conference on human diet at the University of Calgary, where he discussed long-term changes in human diet as reconstructed from archaeology. In January, Cohen will attend a conference in Spain where he will discuss "What Prehistoric Skeletal Remains Tell Us about Changing Sex Roles in Earlier Human Societies" ... Dr. Edwin Hamblet, professor of French, chaired a panel on contemporary Quebec theatre at the 5th Biennial Conference of the American Council for Quebec Studies held recently in Quebec City ... Acting President: 'Excellence Can Happen Here'

Acting President Sherry Penney delivered a keynote address on her impressions of SUNY Plattsburgh to a recent gathering of department chairs, center directors, program coordinators, deans and other administrators (see related story). "What we are doing," she said, "is formulating a vision of what we want SUNY Plattsburgh to be. Together we shall examine how to advance Plattsburgh to become one of the finest colleges in the northeast — a goal we all share."

Penney began by citing the recently released report on education by former SUNY Chancellor Ernest Boyer, as well as "To Secure the Blessings of Liberty," the report prepared by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. Each stresses a redefinition of quality. "The time is right, then," she said, "for us to reexamine what we are doing, to set priorities and to move ahead."

The acting president continued by identifying four things necessary if real self evaluation — with results — is to occur. She urged a receptivity to change, a commitment among key administrators, a strong desire for excellence and a willingness to implement changes. The first three, she emphasized, are already present on the Plattsburgh campus, the fourth cannot be judged for months or even years.

Plattsburgh has some outstanding points, she said, and cited a good spirit and cooperative attitude, the appearance of the campus, a concern for students and good teaching, and involvement in public service. But, she added, there are some areas that need to be addressed, including improvement of the college's external image, the design of the core curriculum, a greater intellectual involvement of students, strengthening of the college's research efforts, improved resources for the library, improvement of advisement, and ensuring a warm and productive climate on campus for all students.

"I think we can take great pride in the fact that many of the things discussed in the Boyer report and the AASCU report are areas to which Plattsburgh has already given attention and in which significant efforts are already underway.... You have shown that your concern for the institution is out in front," Penney concluded. "Excellence and quality ought to be the goal for every institution. The base is here. Together we can make it happen."

44 Campus Leaders 'Retreat' to Sagamore to Explore Issues

Forty-four Plattsburgh State deans, department chairs, center directors, program coordinators and administrators spent two days last weekend discussing the college's past, present and future.

Dr. Jerome Supple, vice president for academic affairs, explained, "The intention of the retreat was to convene a group of campus leaders in a setting where there were no interruptions so that we could reflect on a broad range of issues." Supple said that the sessions focused primarily on three questions — where are we, where do we want to be, and how can we get there.

The workshop, which was held at the Sagamore Hotel in Bolton Landing, began in mid-afternoon on Friday and ended on Saturday afternoon. "We found it to be a very valuable experience," said Supple. "We saw a great deal of enthusiasm for and commitment to the college, and we heard many different views about some of our strengths and some of our weak spots."

Supple added that he hopes the discussions begun during the two-day session will continue on the campus.

7 of 7 Pass Registry Exam

The seven 1986 graduates of the college's degree program in medical technology have passed the National Registry Examination in that field. Success on the exam means that all seven have received professional certification and the right to use the title, "Medical Technologist."

Dr. Richard H. Sudds, professor of biology and coordinator of the medical technology program, reported that 98 percent of the graduates of the program since the first to graduate from it in 1970 have passed the registry exam. His records show that 133 students have graduated from the program since its inception. Sudds pointed out also that a 1979 graduate of the medical technology program achieved the highest score in the nation that year on the registry exam.

Happy Thanksgiving!

Campus Circle of ODK to Induct 34 from Student Body, Faculty

The Plattsburgh State Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa has announced the names of those students, faculty and staff who have recently been selected for induction into the local chapter of the national leadership honor society. The circle will induct 16 juniors, 13 seniors, one graduate student, three members of the faculty and staff and one Honoris Causa member during an induction program scheduled for December 13, at 7 p.m. in the Newman Center.

Students who will be inducted are: Claire Anderson, nursing, Whitehall; Lois P. Ashburn, nursing, Huntington; Richard Becker, mass media, Schenectady; Kathrin J. Adult Learning Week Reception to Honor 'Over 23' Students

A reception honoring the college's adult student population scheduled for 4:30 to 6:30 today in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge will highlight Plattsburgh State's observance of Adult Learning Week in America.

The event, open by invitation to the campus community in addition to its adult students, will feature a brief address by Dr. Sherry Penney, acting president of the college. It is being sponsored jointly by the Center for Lifelong Learning and College Auxiliary Services.

Enrollment data show that Plattsburgh serves nearly 1,500 full-time and part-time adult undergraduate and graduate students annually. Only those who are 23 years in age or older are classified as "adult" students. According to Bette Brohel, coordinator of adult learning services, Plattsburgh's adult students represent all segments of society. She pointed out that many are Plattsburgh Air Force Base personnel and their dependents.

Adult Learning Week is observed simultaneously with American Education Week.

Potter, nursing, Bombay; Lyle Prairie, biochemistry/biophysics, Fort Covington; Kathleen Princiotta, psychology/business, Walden; Dawn Rhodes, special education, Campbell Hall; Thomas Schaller, communication arts/English journalism, Delmar; Doreen Anne Schneider, speech and hearing education, Kings Park.

Also, Richard Stahl, marketing, Etobicoke, Ontario; Edward Tavino, marketing, Brewster; Toni Anne Tormos, English, Hopewell Junction; Kimberly Welch, special education, Albany; Laura Winn, studio art, Liverpool; Stuart Wirth, secondary education math, Holbrook.

Faculty/staff inductees will be Ms. Janet Edwards, Mr. Richard Higgins and Dr. Jean Ostasz. Dr. Sherry Penney has been selected as Honoris Causa member. The 30 student inductees have an aggregate g.p.a. of 3.27.

Penn Historian Smith-Rosenberg to be Visiting Professor Here

Dr. Carroll Smith-Rosenberg, professor of history and psychiatry and director of the Women's Studies Center at the University of Pennsylvania, will be a Distinguished Visiting Professor on campus for three days in early December. Smith-Rosenberg will give three public lectures during her brief visit. On Tuesday, December 2, she will discuss "Domesticating Virtue: Classical Republicanism and the Emergence of an American Bourgeois Discourse, 1790-1820," at 4:15 pm in the Angell Center Blue Room as part of the Tuesday Reflections series. On Wednesday, December 3, she will speak at 7:30 pm in the Cardinal Lounge on "Misremembering Richardson: Class and Gender in Jacksonian America," and the following day at 11:45 am in the Cardinal Lounge, she will be the Women's Studies Forum guest and will discuss "Hearing Women's Words." The campus and community are invited to attend all three free lectures.

Smith-Rosenberg is the author of three books, Religion and the Rise of the American City, Disorderly Conduct: Visions of Gender in Nineteenth Century America, and The Making of the American Language, Gender and Class Identity, 1790-1870. She has also written numerous articles on women's issues in history. From 1979-1982, Smith-Rosenberg was project administrator of the International Three Year Conference, "The New Family and the New Women, 1914-1945: Culture, Policy and Creativity," which was co-sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the University of Paris, the Council for European Studies and the University of Pennsylvania.

Top U.S., British Artists of Past 30 Years in Ackerman Exhibit

Some of the best American and British artists of the last thirty years are represented in the Ackerman Collection which will be on exhibit in the Myers Fine Arts and Rockwell Kent Galleries November 18 through December 19. Included in the collection are contemporary prints, drawings, photographs and sculpture.

The screen prints are done by such artists as Motherwell, Stamos, Guston and Rauschenberg. Photographs are by Bernice Abbot, Phillipe Hallsman, Eugene Smith and George Hubbel. The paintings of Jim Dine, Bernard Cohen and Remy Denny are represented.

This collection, donated by the Martin S. Ackerman Foundation to the college, has become part of SUNY Plattsburgh's permanent art collection.

Campus Life Staff Announces '87 Summer Orientation Team

The Office of Campus Life has announced its parent and new student orientation staff for next summer.

Ed Engelbride, director of campus/community activities, will coordinate the 1987 Parent Orientation program, and Tracy LeGrow, a graduate student in psychology and director of Adirondack Hall, will coordinate student orientation. Engelbride and LeGrow served in those capacities respectively last summer.

The 1987 parent orientation leaders, their majors and hometowns, are:

Karen Fultz, psychology graduate student, Oswego; Will Murphy, senior, nursing, Eagle Bay; Doreen Schneider, junior, speech and hearing education, Kings Park; Peter Fauth, senior, biology, Cortland; Patrick Manion, junior, management science, Larchmont; and, Michele Loomis, junior, international business, Cortland.

The 1987 student orientation leaders, their majors and hometowns, are:

Michael Bamdad, sophomore, speech and hearing, New Hartford; Dina Casey, sophomore, psychology, Ausable Forks; Richard Davino, sophomore, undeclared, Sea Cliff; Michael Galizio, junior, marketing, Central Islip; Thomas Howard, sophomore, business, Lisbon; Piper Luce, junior, speech and hearing education, Glens Falls; Colin McCann, freshman, communications, Red Hook; Mark Migliacco, sophomore, political science, Shrub Oak; Mario Pinque, junior, communication arts/English, Buchanan; and Toni Anne Tormos, junior, English, Hopewell Junction.

According to Edward Brohel, Director of Galleries, "This collection, along with the (Nina) Winkel collection, is one of the most generous gifts made to the college."

Admission to the show is free and the public is invited. The Myers Fine Arts Gallery is open Tuesday through Friday, 10 am - 4 pm. The Rockwell Kent Gallery is open Tuesday through Friday, 12 pm - 4 pm. Both galleries are open from 2 pm - 5 pm on Sundays.

College to Close 'Unofficially' on Friday After Thanksgiving

As in past years, the college will unofficially close on the Friday after Thanksgiving (November 28), according to Robert Moll, acting director of Personnel and Affirmative Action. Only essential services will be maintained, and employees should check with their supervisor to determine if they are required to work. Civil Service employees and other support staff will be required to charge appropriate leave credits for that date. If the employee does not have sufficient leave credits (annual, compensatory, or personal), credits may be advanced provided the employee makes appropriate arrangements with the supervisor and the payroll office. Employees wishing to work on that day rather than charge leave credits should inform their supervisor, who in turn should contact the Office of Personnel and Affirmative Action, where work assignments will be made. Hourly and per diem civil service employees with less than 38 weeks of state service will be on leave without pay.

Moll said further that the day will be a holiday for faculty and professional staff members covered under the UUP bargaining unit. The negotiated contract allows for a floating holiday to be designated for those people. Since classes are in session on Lincoln's Birthday (February 12, 1987), that day has been designated as a floating holiday to be used on November 29.

Brazilian Film Showing Set

The Brazilian film "Vidas Secas" ("Barren Lives"), that nation's counterpart to the American production of Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath," will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in room 208 of Yokum Hall.

The showing is specifically for students in Dr. Thomas Braga's Portuguese course on Brazilian Civilization, but it will be open also for all members of the campus community and the community at-large. It is being sponsored by the Foreign Languages and Literature Department, the Latin American Studies program and the Office of Campus Life.

Cardinals Salvage One in Four Games in Road Trip to Alaska

The Plattsburgh State hockey team split a pair of games with the University of Alaska at Anchorage after dropping two games to the University of Alaska at Fairbanks. The Cards got off to a rough start on their road trip to the Last Frontier, losing to Fairbanks 7-3 and 13-3. Goaltender Craig Barnett suffered a severe groin pull midway through the first game and will be out of action for about one week. On Friday, Steve Hoar's troops rebounded to defeat nationally ranked Division I power Anchorage 5-4. Plattsburgh

Cardinal Cagers Open Season in Weekend Pepsi Touranment

When the Plattsburgh State men's basketball team opens the season against Dawson College at 8 p.m. Friday in the opening round of the Pepsi Classic tip-off tournament, it will mark the first time in 17 years that someone other than Norm Law will guide the Cardinal fortunes in that sport. With Law's departure to the University of Pittsburgh, first-year coach Doug Riley is the new man on board and he inherits a team that went 12-12 in 1985-86. Riley has a good mix of veterans and newcomers he hopes will take his team to SUNYAC's upper ranks.

Coach Riley

Key returnees include Marty Stafford, (12.9 ppg and 7.3 rpg) and all-SUNYAC honorable mention selection, Rudy Outlaw (12.0 ppg). Guy Garrow (12.3 ppg) will return next semester.

West Virginia transfer Holman Harley heads the list of newcomers. The talented guard was a starter for the Division I school last season. Two other players are new to Plattsburgh, but not to coach Riley. Senior John Ramsey and sophomore Brian Routh played for Riley last season at St. Andrew's. Ramsey was an all-South selection at forward.

If they get by Dawson on Friday, they will meet either Geneseo State or perennially powerful Hartwick College in Saturday's (3 p.m.) championship game.

The Cards face an ambitious schedule this season. The always difficult SUNYAC features national champion Potsdam State (the Bears will invade Memorial Hall gymnasium on Dec. 3), the Great Danes of Albany State and a vastly improved Binghamton State team. Non-conference foes St. Michael's, Middlebury, Norwich, and Union provide rugged competition as the Cards drive toward a possible post-season berth.

overcame a 3-1 deficit on Shane Ferras' goal with 5:45 left in the game. On Saturday, however, the Seawolves jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead and never looked back en route to a 7-0 win. The Cards return home to host rival Norwich at 7:30 this evening.

Sophomore Kathy Kane finished sixth at the NCAA regional meet to qualify for the NCAA cross-country championships this Saturday at Fredonia State. The women's team finished fourth behind champion Ithaca. The men's squad was paced to a 11th place finish behind Glenn Dow's 46th place effort.

Doug Riley's men's basketball team tuned up for this weekend's Pepsi Classic tournament by whipping McGill 103-88 in an exhibition game. Transfer Holman Harley poured in 36 points to pace Plattsburgh. Rudy Outlaw added 21 while John Ramsey contributed to the winning effort with 18 points and eight rebounds.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Drs. Donald J. Bogucki and Gerhard K. Gruending, professors in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, have had a paper accepted for presentation at the Soil Science Society of America meetings to be held next month in Chicago. The paper is entitled "Comparison of Depth-to-Bedrock Determined from Soil Mapping and Seismic Techniques," and was co-authored by D.A. Lammers of the U.S. Forest Service, D.L. Stevens of Eastern Oregon State University, and M.R. Church of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ... Dr. Bryan Higgins, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, will be attending workshops and will present a paper at the TRIALOG Symposium on Slums and Squatter Settlements in the Developing World to be held November 26-29 in Berlin, West Germany. Higgins' paper is entitled "Slums and Squatter Settlements Before and After the Revolution in Nicaragua." In December, Higgins will moderate a panel session on the topic "Planning in Progressive Cities" at a conference on Housing and Economic Development: State, Local and Grassroots Initiatives to be held in Washington, D.C. under sponsorship of the Planners Network ... Dr. Eldridge W. Roark, Jr., vice president for student affairs, visited Missouri Southern State College and Salem College (N.C.) recently in his role as national president of Omicron Delta Kappa. At Missouri Southern, he performed a site inspection visit for the society, while at Salem he was the installing officer of the 206th circle of ODK.

NURSING DEPARTMENT RECEIVES APPROVAL TO OFFER BS OPTION

Effective next fall, the Department of Nursing at the college will offer an educational track for licensed registered nurses leading to a bachelor of science degree with a major in nursing.

Dr. Jeanette Coleman, director of the department, described the program innovation, approved recently by both State University of New York and the State Education Department, as "timely" and "exciting." She said it establishes flexibility in a program previously considered rigid, and does so "without sacrificing quality" and in compliance with accrediting requirements of the National League for Nursing. The Plattsburgh nursing program is fully accredited by the League.

"The registered nurse option is designed to build upon the knowledge and skills nurses have acquired in either community college or hospital-based nursing education programs," said Coleman. "Qualified students -- that is, registered nurses who meet admission requirements -- will be able to complete the program within two years on a full-time basis. However, applicants can be accommodated also as part-time students."

Coleman said the new option was created in response to the needs of nursing professionals in the community. It required "a great deal of hard work on the part of faculty who met the challenge to revise the basic curriculum and then proceeded to develop the registered nurse option."

The program option, Coleman said, should be especially attractive to licensed registered nurses who are seeking upward career mobility. "It will merge and synthesize previous nursing education with baccalaureate-level theory and clinical experiences," she said. "This will serve to broaden and expand the registered nurse's knowledge base for the practice of their profession in a variety of health care settings, including the community. Additionally, it will provide a foundation for future graduate study in nursing in a wide range of clinical specializations and in the fields of nursing administration, research or education."

Coleman emphasized that academic excellence was the foremost consideration in developing the program and that admission standards will be exacting. Validation of acquired nursing knowledge will be an admission prerequisite, she said. Moreover, a minimum overall grade-point average of 2.5 on the 4.0 scale in previous course work will be required.

Irish Educator Here as Guest Lecturer

W.J. Smith, vice principal and professor of geography at Maynooth College in Dublin, Ireland, will be the guest of the Center for the Study of Canada today and tomorrow (Dec. 3 and 4). Smith, who is spending a sabbatic leave as a visiting professor of geography at York University, is the immediate past president of the Irish Association for Canadian Studies. He is the author of several books on Irish immigration to Canada and has also written on the subject of Orangemen in Canada.

Smith will speak on immigration and ethnic groups in Canada at tonight's Club Canada meeting, which begins at 6 p.m. in meeting room 1 of the Angell College Center. Tomorrow at 11:20 a.m., Smith will be the guest speaker during the Introduction to Canadian Studies course (CAS111) in Yokum Hall. Faculty, staff and students are welcome to attend either presentation.

A Message to Our Readership ...

If you detect that this this edition of Weekly has a different look to it, be advised that it does -- but by necessity and not by design. A breakdown of typesetting equipment in the Office of College Relations required the staff of this publication to improvise, using computer-generated and formatted copy for the body text and a Hewlett-Packard laser printer to prepare the text for camera. Equipment repair is expected to be accomplished by the time this Weekly is in circulation.

Hockey Cards on Road; Basketball Teams Host Potsdam's Bears Tonight

The Plattsburgh State hockey team extended its winning streak to three games by sweeping a pair of home contests last week. On Wednesday, the Cards scored a come from behind, 8-6 win over St. Scholastica College (Minn.). Joey Ferras notched three goals and assisted on two other in the contest. Craig Barnett returned to the Cardinal nets Saturday night after a two week absence due to injury to lead Plattsburgh to a 7-1 win over ECAC rival Elmira College. The brother act of Joey and Shane Ferras scored twice apiece for the 7-5 icers, who take to the road for three contests this week.

Kathy Kane completed a fine cross country season by finishing 54th at the NCAA Division III championships at Fredonia State.

The men's basketball team opened up the 1986-87 season by winning its own tournament on November 21-22. The Cards crushed Dawson College 102-70 in the opening round of the Pepsi Classic and defeated Geneseo State 81-71 in the championship game. Holman Harley was named tournament MVP while teammate John Ramsey was selected to the all-tournament team. Doug Riley's cagers open their SUNYAC season at home tonight against the defending national champion Potsdam State Bears. Meanwhile, Coach Phoebe Sturm's women's varsity will make its 1986-87 season debut in a 6 p.m. preliminary contest against the Potsdam women Bears.

Paley, New York's First State Author, to Present 2 Programs Here Next Week

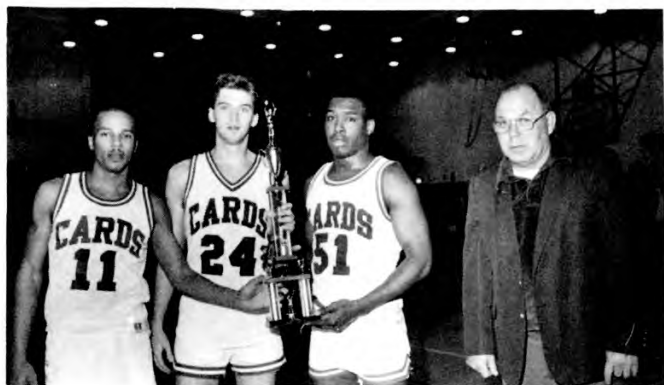

Short story writer Grace Paley, who last month was named New York State's first state author, will visit the college next Thursday to speak at a Women's Studies Forum and to present a reading of her own works.

Paley will discuss "A Feminist Writer's Vision" at 11:45 a.m. in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge in a program sponsored by the Women's Studies Forum and College Auxiliary Services. Her reading, to be followed by a reception, will take place at 8 p.m. in the Angell Center Ballroom under sponsorship of the Visiting Poet and Writer's Series. Both programs are open to all, free of charge.

Paley, whose term as state author will last two years, was selected to receive that honor by the New York State Writers Institute. It was created by the State Legislature to encourage creative writing. The day before her visit to Plattsburgh, Paley is scheduled to receive the Edith Wharton Citation of Merit and the $10,000 stipend that accompanies it from Governor Cuomo at a reception in Albany.

Paley's short stories have appeared in The New Yorker, Ms., Fiction, Mother Jones, and other magazines. She has published three highly acclaimed collections of her stories: "The Little Disturbances of Man" in 1959, "Enormous Changes at the Last Minute" in 1974 and "Later the Same Day" in 1985. She teaches at City College and Sarah Lawrence College, and has taught previously at Columbia University and Syracuse University. She has been involved in the anti-war and feminist movements and describes herself as a "somewhat combative pacifist and cooperative anarchist."

Basketball co-captains Holman Harley (11) and Marty Safford (24) and forward John Ramsey (51) grasp Pepsi Cardinal Classic championship trophy they helped to earn in defeating Dawson College and Geneseo State in season-opening tournament on November 21-22. Joining them in accepting the award is Dick Thomas, sales manager for Pepsi Cola Bottling in Keeseville.

In announcing her selection as state author on November 13, Writers Institute Director and Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist William Kennedy described Paley as "a marvelous person and a wonderful writer (whose) voice is absolutely singular."

33 Undergraduates Selected for '86-87 Edition of Who's Who Among Students

The 1986-87 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges will include the names of thirty-three students from SUNY Plattsburgh. The Who's Who students from Plattsburgh and their majors are: Jeffrey T. Agnoli, Biology; Andrea Aidone, Food and Nutrition; Edna Aiken, Child Family Services; Christine Angland, Communication Arts; Richard Becker, Communications; Catherine Berghahn, Mathematics/Secondary Education; Aimee Cameron, Political Science; Lori Carozza, Education; Ann Durusky, Home Economics; Peter Fauth, Biology; Gail Felix, Mass Media; Debra Felsman, Psychology; Diane C. Fox, Business/Marketing; Woody Freese, Special Education; Robert Heintz, Chemistry; and Theresa A. Holscher, Business.

Also, Jean Hucko, Biochemistry/Biophysics; Michelle J. Hutt, Education; Kimberly J. Kenyon, Nursing; William Kinahan, Computer Science/Mathematics; Judy A. LaBombardi, Elementary Education; Larry E. Leger, Political Science; Tracy L. LeGrow, Psychology; Laurie J. Mante, Business/Marketing; Lisa Marsh, Sociology; Ann A. McLaughlin, Business Management; Andrea Meldrum, Psychology; Christopher Purcaro, Business Management; Christine Seifert, Nursing; Richard Stahl, Business/Marketing; Dominic Szambowski, Counseling; Edward J. Tavino, Business/Marketing; and Shari A. Wasserman, Communication Arts.

These selections were made on the basis of a combination of qualities including academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potential for continued success. A campus committee consisting of faculty, staff and students made the selections from among undergraduates who had been nominated for consideration for the honor.

The group of thirty-three students from Plattsburgh join students selected from the more than 1,400 institutions of higher education in all fifty states, the District of Columbia, and several foreign countries.

SA Elections Dec. 10; Schaller Opposes Slattery in Race for President's Post

Juniors Tom Schaller and Greg Slattery oppose each other in the race for the presidency of the Plattsburgh State Student Association for 1987 in SA elections scheduled for a week from today. Schaller, who is a double major in communications and English (journalism) from Delmar, has served the student body this year as a member of the Activities Coordination Board. Slattery, a business major from Coxsackie, is currently a member of the Student Senate.

Vying for the post as executive vice president of the SA are Rich Davino, a sophomore from Sea Cliff who has not declared a major, and Cathy Basilia, an accounting major from Cohoes who also is a member of the Activities Coordination Board. Other contested posts include vice president for activities and vice president for student services. Senior business majors Dwight Perry of Clay and Paul Ries of Bayville will contend for the former SA seat while junior business majors Sandra Pipitone of Deer Park and John Pugliese of Commack will compete for the latter.

'Elijah' Performance Set for Sunday

A major music event will take place on Sunday, December 7, as members of the Champlain Valley Oratorio Society and their guests, the Vermont Symphony Orchestra and the SUNY Cardinal Singers, present "Elijah," by Felix Mendelssohn.

Four soloists will be featured in the production. Baritone Mark Rucker, who will sing the title role, recently won the second Luciano Pavarotti/Opera Company of Philadelphia Competition. Christine Donahue, who will sing the soprano solos, has performed with major opera companies throughout the United States and Canada. Alto soloist Laurie Szablewski is a graduate of SUNY Plattsburgh and has won the Mendelssohn Club's Vocal Award and the Schenectady Light Opera Company's Vocal Award. Singing the tenor solos will be Richard Zielinski, instructor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre and conductor of the Cardinal Singers.

Richard Probert, director of the Center for Art, Music and Theatre and music director of the Champlain Valley Oratorio Society will conduct "Elijah."

The performance will begin at 3:00 p.m. in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall. General admission tickets, at $6.50 each, are still available in the Box Office in the Myers Fine Arts Building.

Candidates for three remaining SA vice president slots are running unopposed. Ed Reilly, an accounting major from Roslyn Heights, is unopposed for the office of vice president for finances; Bruce Van Schaick, a junior accounting major from Cape Vincent, is unopposed for vice president for academics, and Jamie Lane, a junior music major from Central Islip, is unopposed for the post of vice president for the arts.

Polling places on campus and the hours when students (with valid identification) may vote throughout the day next Wednesday are: Angell Center Lobby, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Algonquin and Clinton Dining Halls, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. The new SA administration takes office officially on January 1.

85 Parking Spaces Added to Campus; More Locations Under Consideration

Approximately 85 spaces have been added or are in the process of being added to the campus parking scheme, and further measures are being studied to provide even more spaces for faculty, staff and student autos.

According to Dr. Eldridge W. Roark, vice president for student affairs, the recently completed Champlain/Banks lot is now open, and provides an additional 33 spaces. Other locations for additional parking and the spaces included in each are: rear of Harrington Hall (22); rear of Sibley Hall (12-14, expansion of current lot expected to be open by December 1); rear of Feinberg Library (8); under podium near the Myers Building (5 spaces formerly reserved for service vehicles); and Sanborn Avenue (5, scheduled to be completed as part of the Champlain/Banks project).

All locations are restricted to faculty and staff use with the exception of the new spaces added to the Harrington lot, where students also may park.

College Council to Meet Tomorrow

The December meeting of the SUNY Plattsburgh College Council will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge of the Angell College Center.

Agenda items include the status of the presidential search, a freshman profile prepared by the Office of Institutional Research and the college's Centennial Planning Committee. College Council meetings are open to all.

$2 Million Budget Increase Proposed for College

SUNY's $1.3 billion operating budget request for 1987-88 approved recently by the University's Board of Trustees contains $25,014,100 for Plattsburgh State.

The total requested for this campus represents an increase of $2,016,000 over the college's operating budget for the current academic year. It includes funds for 17 additional faculty and staff positions, for salary adjustments and for the recovery of prior inflationary increases for other than personal service not funded in previous years. It also includes additional resources for expansion of the Value Added Project and in support of the proposed "Freshman Year Experience" program. The latter, designed to enhance the initial year educational experience of freshmen students, would include a special course for freshmen and special sections of regular courses for first-year students. It would also feature special housing and residence life activities for freshmen as well as a series of off-campus activities.

The SUNY-wide budget for the 29 state-operated campuses and five statutory colleges, which has been submitted to the governor for inclusion in the Executive Budget, includes $1.2 billion from direct state appropriations and $84.8 million funded from University-generated income. It features the first year of a graduate research initiative that the trustees expect will lift SUNY to the "very first rank of American institutions of higher learning."

The overall request for SUNY represents an increase of $132,667,600 — or 11 percent — over the $1,174,916,000 appropriated to the campuses for 1986-87. Funds for the proposed graduate-research initiative would launch a ten-year development of graduate education and research programs that will serve New York State and "earn SUNY the same reputation for excellence and breadth in these areas it has already developed in its programs of undergraduate instruction and public service." To support the initiative, $16.9 million, or 1.3 percent of the total funding sought, has been requested. Nearly three-fourths of the increased state operations funding request — $95.3 million — is targeted to meet SUNY's ongoing needs, including negotiated salary increases, inflationary increases, building repair and equipment replacement, and computing upgrade and library automation.

The second largest request for increased support deals with improved quality and accessibility at the undergraduate level. A total of $14.6 million is sought to improve student/faculty ratios; $6.1 million for improved access and responsiveness to minorities, women, working and disadvantaged students; and $5 million to enhance the quality of student life.

Council Okays Appointment of 7 from Community to Foundation

At its December meeting last Thursday, the College Council appointed seven individuals from the local community to serve as community representatives to the Plattsburgh College Foundation for 1987. The seven, who will join 23 other community residents on the Foundation's general membership roster at the organization's annual meeting next month, are: Ralph Boardman, Eugene Creech, Hazel Kahn, Kenneth Mousseau, Andrew Schonbek, Brenda Tallman, and John Vroman. In a related matter, the Council re-appointed Harry Mowry as its representative to the Foundation's Board of Directors.

Discussion items at last Thursday's meeting focused on the status of the presidential search by Council Chair Robert M. Garrow; the formulation of a Centennial Planning Committee by committee Co-Chair Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development; a profile of the freshman class by Diana Green, director of institutional research and analytical studies, and Janet Edwards, assistant to the president for enrollment management; and a report by Acting President Sherry Penney on her impressions of the college. Also discussed was the proposed underground relocation of telephone lines on Rugar Street which, at an estimated cost of $322,400, was determined to be a major capital expense and, therefore, not feasible.

Faculty/Staff Drive Shy of Goal

With about three weeks left in the Plattsburgh College Foundation's 1986 Annual Giving Campaign, the Faculty/Staff component continues to stand about one-third short of its $25,000 goal for the year. Gifts and pledges totaled $16,807 as of the December 5 report period.

Curtis E. Shipman, president of the Foundation, noted that gifts from the campus community send "an important message" to individuals and businesses in the community who are asked to support, and do support, the Foundation's annual giving program. He urged members of the campus community to respond to the appeal prior to the end of the campaign on December 31. Foundation offices are located on the eighth floor of the Kehoe Administration Building.

Survey Information Profiles Typical Member of Class of 1990

The typical Plattsburgh freshman is from a small community, has parents with some college education, expects to graduate from Plattsburgh, and believes Plattsburgh's strengths include its friendly atmosphere and people, its academic programs, and its location. That description comes from a review of preliminary data based on the 1986 freshman survey administered to incoming students during the summer orientation program.

The survey showed that 67% of the fathers and 61% of the mothers of members of the freshman class have an educational level beyond high school. Both of these figures have shown an increase in the last four years. Joint gross annual income for 71% of the families exceeds $30,000, and 77% of the mothers are working at least part-time outside the home.

Eighty-six percent are sure or very sure of their decision to come to Plattsburgh, and said the most influential factors in that decision were the college's distance from home, friendliness of the people on campus and cost. The most influential sources of information in their decision to attend Plattsburgh were friends and acquaintances, a campus visit, and parents or relatives.

Area Library System Publishes Marketing Book by Dr. Church

A book entitled Marketing for Nonprofit Cultural Organizations authored by Dr. Nancy Church, lecturer in the School of Business and Economics, has been published by the Clinton-Essex-Franklin Library System. The book was funded by a grant from the New York State Council on the Arts and was written as a marketing primer for those who manage such organizations. Sid Couchey, noted cartoonist and illustrator, did the visuals for the book.

The book contains chapters on marketing research, identifying target markets, introduction to promotion and positioning, advertising, sales promotions and merchandising, publicity and marketing ideas.

Church, a member of the business faculty since 1977, teaches courses in marketing and management and also directs the Business School's internship program. She is the author of two other books, Future Opportunities in Franchising (1979) and Tips for Waiters and Waitresses (1984), as well as numerous articles on marketing.

Sixty percent of the freshmen say they will pursue a master's degree or higher, and 56% are sure or very sure of their choice of major, although 22% are undeclared.

Personal goals rated as very important to achieve while on campus included obtaining specific skills useful on a job (95%), discovering vocational interests (90%), and improving chances of making money (86%). Students also rated as very important learning for its own sake (75%), increasing the desire and ability to continue learning on their own (75%), and improving their self-image (72%).

A complete report on the freshman survey will be available in the near future from the Office of Institutional Research.

MacMillan Company Publishes Fourth Edition of Baum Book

The fourth edition of Introduction to Organic and Biological Chemistry by Dr. Stuart J. Baum, professor of chemistry, has been published by the MacMillan Publishing Company. First published in 1970, Baum's book has been used by students at more than 100 colleges during the last 16 years (including approximately 2,500 Plattsburgh students) and is described by the publisher as "the leader in the field." It has also been translated into Italian and Spanish.

The textbook, which is accompanied by an instructor's manual, a solutions manual and a study guide/problems book, focuses on the application of organic chemistry and biochemistry to genetics, microbiology, pharmacology, physiology and nutrition as it introduces the fundamentals of organic chemistry to non-chemistry majors. The edition covers various topics of current interest, including, among others, discussions of the effects of alcohol, carcinogens, the chemistry of sight and odor, psychoactive drugs, artificial sweeteners, and immune responses.

Baum has been a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh chemistry faculty since 1963. He is a recipient of the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Phi Eta Sigma Distinguished Faculty Award. In addition to this textbook, Baum is a co-author of two other texts, Chemistry: A Life Science Approach and Laboratory Exercises in Organic and Biological Chemistry.

Campus-wide Committee Formed to Plan for 100th Anniversary

SUNY Plattsburgh will observe the 100th anniversary of its founding in the spring of 1989, and a campus-wide committee has been formed — and met for the first time Monday — to plan an appropriate centennial celebration.

The college's Centennial Planning Committee is co-chaired by Dr. John Myers, professor of history and chair of the Faculty Senate, and Don Garran, assistant to the president for college relations and development. The committee's charge is to "develop a proposal which represents an integrated and comprehensive design for the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the College at Plattsburgh" for review and consideration early in 1987 by the acting president and the Executive Staff. The proposal would address both general and specific objectives to be achieved during the centennial observance.

The bill that led to establishment of the Plattsburgh Normal School was introduced in the State Legislature by Assemblyman Stephen Moffitt on January 10, 1889. Other important dates to be noted by the planning committee include June 15 (the 100th anniversary of the founding legislation signed by then Gov. David B. Hill); September 3 of 1990 (the 100th anniversary of the opening of the Normal School at Plattsburgh); and June 23, 1991 (the 100th anniversary of the first commencement of a class of three individuals).

In addition to the co-chairpersons, the committee is composed of alumna Rita Banks, a member of the class of '34; Patricia Bentley, associate librarian; Dr. Marilyn Chase, director of the Center for Human Resources; Dr. Nancy Church, lecturer in the School of Business and Economics; Dr. Herman Doh, pro-

Search Update: 71 Applications on File; More Being Encouraged

Seventy-one individuals have applied to date for the position as president of Plattsburgh State. Robert M. Garrow, chairperson of the College Council and the presidential search committee, reports that in addition to the official applications, letters inviting nominations have been sent to 373 individuals, organizations and colleges and universities. Also, every member of the faculty and staff of the college has been informed by memorandum that nominations are welcome from all. Garrow noted that the candidates will be notified by mail of the timetable for the search.

The search committee will meet again tomorrow to discuss the type of person wanted in the next president. Meanwhile, it has been divided into three groups to review each application prior to the evening of January 13, when the committee will meet to establish a "select list" of candidates.

fessor of English; Gerald Dominy, director of operations; Janet Edwards, assistant to the president for enrollment management; Beverly Forster, assistant to the president; Robert M. Garrow, chair of the College Council; Cheryl Hogle, associate director of campus life; Dr. Ralph Hunkins, professor in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services; Dr. Jeanne Kissner, associate director of the Center for the Study of Canada; William Laundry, director of campus life; Thomas Moran, assistant vice president for academic affairs; Richard Probert, director of the Center for Art, Music and Theatre; Dr. Edward E. Redcay, professor emeritus of psychology; Dr. George Sheats, professor of chemistry; Dr. Lawrence Shaffer, associate professor of psychology; Dr. Douglas Skopp, professor of history; Dr. Nicholas Troisi, dean of the Faculty of Professional Studies; and Dr. Philip Walker, professor emeritus of biology. The appointment of student members of the committee is pending.

Campus 'Sign Amnesty Week' Promotes Recovery of Property

This week is "Sign Amnesty Week" at Plattsburgh State, and that means that students who have pilfered street or traffic control signs in the City of Plattsburgh have until the end of the day on Friday to turn in items in their possession without risk of penalty.

Sponsored by the Student Association, College Community Relations Board, Alpha Chi Rho and the Office of Campus Life, Amnesty Week is pegging its campaign to appeal to the "giving spirit" of the holiday season among students. Flyers and posters circulating around campus are promoting the activity as a way to engender "good relations between the Plattsburgh community and the college." Also in the circulation is a flyer warning that the theft of city property carries with it a possible sentence of 30 days in jail on weekends, plus a criminal record.

Students whose "guilt feelings" or "kind heartedness" prompts the return of city signs are being advised to return the items to their residence hall mailrooms at designated times or to make specific arrangements with the Office of Campus Life under "no questions will be asked" circumstances.

City of Plattsburgh Public Works Department officials estimate that approximately 200 street and traffic signs have to be replaced annually because they are stolen or vandalized. However, they readily admit that Plattsburgh State students don't deserve to shoulder all the blame.

"Believe me," said one spokesman for the city's Public Works Department, "many of the missing signs are in the homes of permanent Plattsburgh residents."

Card Hockey Team Wins 3 to Vault to 1st in Conference Standings

Steve Hoar's hockey Cardinals swept three games in the past week to vault to the top of the ECAC and SUNYAC standings. Plattsburgh began its three-game road trip at Potsdam and overcame a 2-0 deficit to win decisively, 5-2. Andre Giroux paced the Cards with a pair of goals. Against Oswego, Chris Panek scored the game-winner with 50 seconds to go to give Plattsburgh its second 6-5 win over the Lakers this season. In Saturday's contest with Geneseo, goaltender Tony Martino turned aside 45 Ice Knight volleys and All-America and Hobey Baker candidate Joey Ferras notched a hat trick to pace Plattsburgh to a 6-1 win.

The Cards host Union tonight at 7:30 before traveling to Brockport on Friday for an important SUNYAC game.

The men's basketball team nearly pulled off the biggest upset in Plattsburgh State history on Wednesday, but lost, 84-79 to Potsdam State in overtime. Rudy Outlaw scored 20 points and Holman Harley added 19, all in the second half, to pace the Cards.

The Cards finished second in the Hamilton Tip-Off Tournament, losing to the hosts, 73-65 in the championship game. Harley scored 25 points in the final and 30 in Plattsburgh's 75-64 first round win over Utica Tech to garner all-tournament honors.

T.J. Cornwright scored 19 points and Donna Dixon added 18 to pace Phoebe Sturm's women's basketball team to a 76-64 season opening win over Potsdam State. The 1-0 Cards conclude their first semester this Friday with a game at North Country rival Clarkson University.

Proposal for a Vote on SASU Referendum Loses in SA Senate

A proposal that would have allowed students to decide whether Plattsburgh will retain its membership in the Student Association of the State University (SASU) was defeated last week by the SA senate. The vote was 5-5-1 with Executive Vice President Woody Freese forced to vote in the negative to break the tie.

If the proposal had passed, students would have had the opportunity to vote on the matter in a general referendum. Currently, students each provide $2.25 of their $50 per semester activities assessment to help fund the state-wide organization. Despite going down to defeat, the measure is expected to surface again next semester.

More than 350 to Join Alumni Ranks on Friday

An estimated 355 students have filed applications to graduate at the conclusion of the fall semester, and more than one-half of that number are expected to participate in informal, mid-year commencement exercises to be held at 1:30 p.m. on Friday in Memorial Hall gymnasium.

Approximately 300 of those eligible to graduate this week are candidates for bachelor's degrees. The remainder have applied to receive master's degrees or certificates of advanced study. One student will graduate summa cum laude (with highest honors), another magna cum laude (with high honors) and some 20 others will receive their degrees cum laude (with honors). The summa cum laude graduate is Robin Murdock, a special education major from Crown Point, and the magna cum laude graduate is Patricia Toscano, an elementary education major from Saranac Lake.

Acting President Sherry H. Penney will preside at commencement and will deliver the principal address. The title of her commencement speech is "The Three R's Revisited."

Music faculty Thomas Erdmann (trumpet) and Peter Kairoff (piano) will perform a music selection in addition to the processional and recessional, and the Cardinal Singers, under the direction of Richard Zielinski, also a member of the music faculty, will sing the National Anthem and the college's Alma Mater. Dr. Jerome H. Supple, vice president for academic affairs, will present the candidates for degrees. Dr. Penney will confer the degrees and Robert M. Garrow, chairperson of the College Council, will award the diplomas.

A highlight of the commencement program will be formal presentation of the American Psychological Association's Distinguished Teaching Award to Dr. Lawrence Shaffer, associate professor of psychology. Shaffer was selected to receive the honor earlier this year. It is awarded on the basis of "demonstrated influence in interesting students in the field of psychology, development of effective teaching methods, courses and/or teaching materials, outstanding performance as a classroom teacher, and professional activity on or away from campus."

An informal reception for the graduates, their guests and faculty and staff will be held in the Angell College Center Ballroom immediately following the ceremony.

FROM ACTING PRESIDENT PENNEY ...

The holiday season provides the opportunity to recall accomplishments of the recent past, to reflect upon friendships made and those we hope we have strengthened, and to count our blessings. The past few months have been among the most fulfilling professionally and rewarding personally of my career in higher education. You, the SUNY Plattsburgh "family," have made me feel truly welcome as your interim president. Moreover, I have gained an acute sense in a very short period of time of why this particular institution is regarded as first-rate academically and unrivaled in terms of collegiality and congeniality — not only throughout SUNY but also state-wide. You have my sincere appreciation as well as my fondest wishes for a joyous holiday season and an abundance of health, happiness and prosperity in the New Year.

Happy Holidays

Schaller to Assume SA Presidency; Davino Elected Executive Veep

With a margin of more than 275 votes, Tom Schaller swept into office as Student Association president for 1987 in SA elections held last week. Schaller, a junior who assumes the presidency effective January 1, garnered 805 votes to Greg Slaterry's 522 to win decisively, as 1,373 students went to the polls last Tuesday.

Sophomore Richard Davino defeated Catherine Basila handily to win the post as executive vice president of the SA. Balloting favored Davino by a 691 to 480 count.

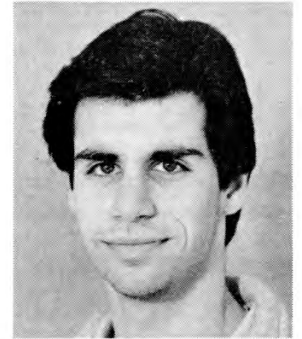

In other contested races, Sandy Pipitone won election over John Pugliese as vice president for student services; Paul Ries defeated Dwight Perry to become the SA's next vice president for activities; and Ed O'Brien and Michael Dailey were elected as chief justice and associate justice, respectively, of the Court of Appeals against fields of more than two candidates. Jamie Lane, Ed Reilly and Bruce VanSchaick were unopposed in their election bids for the arts, finances and academics vice presidencies, respectively.

The 15 students elected to the SA Senate from a field of 26 candidates, in the order of their vote appeal, were: Jackie Cianfrocco, Kathy Kane, Jason Mehler, Michael Kane, Doug McManus, Paul Pierce, Bryan Hartman, Jeffrey Gatz, Mike Santora, John Gagliardo, Christina Canarozzi, Marie Sullivan, Amy Shahon, Dave Helman, and Eric Kirleis.

Rich Davino

SA President Schaller is a communications arts/English-journalism major from Delmar. At Plattsburgh, he was elected to membership in Phi Eta Sigma, the national honorary society for freshmen, and to Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society. Schaller has written sports for Cardinal Points, and he is an officer candidate in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Executive Vice President Davino, from Sea Cliff, has yet to declare a major. He has been active here as an SA senator, a summer orientation leader and as an officer on his residence hall council. Davino is co-chair of BACCHUS, a program that fosters responsibility in the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Honoring a Benefactor

Acting President Sherry Penney (l) and Plattsburgh College Foundation Vice President Harry Mowry (r) presented Martin S. Ackerman with a certificate of appreciation during his visit to campus last weekend. Ackerman was on campus to view the initial exhibition of works donated during the last two years by his Foundation to the college's permanent art collection. The campus Ackerman Collection consists of well over 500 pieces of contemporary art, valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Preliminary Enrollment Figures Show January Admits on Target

Preliminary data relative to admission of students for the spring term beginning in January indicates the college has reason to be optimistic.

Information furnished by the office of admissions shows that as of Monday of this week the college had received 768 applications for admission next month, and that deposits had been received from 131 prospective students. The application figure represented a 35 percent increase when compared with similar data for a year ago, and deposits were up 21 percent. The enrollment goal for January is 250 students, and Janet Edwards, assistant to the president for enrollment management, reported that the favorable data to date indicate the goal is likely to be achieved.

Increases in applications are evident in accounting, business, criminal justice, elementary and secondary education, English, 3+2 engineering, psychology, and undeclared. Edwards said that enrollment caps have been placed on programs in the School of Business and Economics and on the criminal justice major.

Grant from Education Honor Society Supports Purchase of Journals

Honor students in teacher education, reportedly frustrated by a lack of current scholarly publications in their field in Feinberg Library, have taken it upon

Center for the Study of Canada Receives Hiram Walker Grant

The Center for the Study of Canada will receive $18,450 in financial support over the next three years from Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts Ltd., according to Dr. Richard Beach, Center director. Beach said that the Canadian corporation has committed $5,700 in 1987, $6,150 in 1988, and $6,600 to the Plattsburgh College Foundation. The money will be used, Beach said, "to support a number of the Center's activities, especially the Hiram Walker Scholarship program. In addition, $1,000 is earmarked each year for an endowment fund, the proceeds from which will help make certain Center programs self-sustaining."

"More and more universities in both countries are entering the Canadian Studies field," Beach said, "making it progressively more difficult for the state colleges to compete in this kind of market. It is fortunate indeed, therefore, that we have such a good friend in Ian Wilson-Smith (senior vice president of Hiram Walker), who has over the years been a staunch supporter of our program." Beach added, "This grant is the largest financial commitment which Hiram Walker provides any academic institution in North America except for the University of Windsor, which is located in the same city as Hiram Walker's corporate head office."

themselves to correct the shortcoming. The Plattsburgh State chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, the national honorary society in education, has allocated $200 from its treasury as a grant to the library to purchase journals most in demand by students and faculty.

Rita Rockwell, a senior education major from Carthage and president of the society, said that the grant comes from Kappa Delta Pi dues and miscellaneous membership fees. She said the society voted to make the grant renewable annually.

"We realized that the library didn't carry much in the way of education journals and that resources to subscribe to them are scarce," said Rockwell. "So we conducted a survey among faculty to determine which publications they thought would be most beneficial to students as well as to them. Thirteen made the list. Our grant will help to pay for nine subscriptions."

Dr. Hilton Heming, professor emeritus of education and advisor to the society, said he thought the gesture to be unprecedented. "At least," he said, "I've never heard of a student group — honors-oriented or otherwise — that has taken this kind of initiative." Heming, who became a member of the education faculty here in 1957, said the honor society in education was founded at Plattsburgh in 1954 and is the institution's original organization of its type.

Brothers of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity recently sponsored a Fast Day to raise money for cancer research in memory of member Arti Hirt's mother, who died in September. More than 1,300 SUNY Plattsburgh students signed away a breakfast and the Marriott Corporation contributed $1.11 for each meal signed away. The proceeds ($1,491) were presented to Dr. Vincay Likhite (c) of the Immunology Foundation in Plattsburgh by Fast Day Chairman Kurt Husselbeck (l) and Marriott Services Director Bob Clinton (r).

Second-ranked Cards Cap Fall Semester With Victory at Brockport

The hockey team, currently ranked second in the nation, won a pair of ECAC games last week to move to 12-5 on the season. The Cards defeated Union, 6-3, at home and SUNYAC rival Brockport, 3-0, and now stand at 8-1 in the ECAC West division. The Cards are home Friday to host Moscow-Spartak.

Phoebe Sturm's cagers dropped road games to North Country rivals St. Lawrence and Clarkson last week to fall to 1-2 on the season. Plattsburgh will resume play next semester with a home game against Middlebury College on Jan. 7.

Next WEEKLY January 14

This is the final issue of WEEKLY for the fall semester. Publication will resume in the spring term on Wednesday, January 14. The editors and staff thank those whose accomplishments and cooperation make this publication possible, and extend best wishes to all for a safe and enjoyable holiday season.

Holman Harley scored 23 points to pace the men's basketball team to a 89-86 win over St. Lawrence University in Canton last week. The Cards stand at 3-2 and will be idle until next semester when they also meet Middlebury on Jan. 7.

Moscow Spartak Itinerary Set; Practice to be Open to Public

The itinerary for the Moscow Spartak hockey team that will take on the Plattsburgh State Cardinals Friday evening at the college's Field House ice arena has been announced.

The athletes, coaches and other members of the Soviet delegation are expected to arrive by bus in Plattsburgh at approximately 11:30 a.m. tomorrow. The contingent, whose headquarters will be Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge on Rt. 3, will proceed directly to the Field House for 90 minutes of practice scheduled to begin at about 12 noon. The practice session is open to all, free of charge. Spartak will practice again from 10 to 11 a.m. on Friday, and that session also will be open to the public.

Although the face-off time for Friday's exhibition game had been previously announced (and printed on the tickets) as 7:30 p.m., the contest has been moved back to an 8:05 start to accommodate the live telecast by WPTZ-TV, Channel 5 in Plattsburgh. Doors to the Field House will open for ticket-holders only at 6 p.m.
